Partnership for Empire Based on Mutual Interest

Opposition Leader, at Vancouver, Devotes Most of His Time to Answering Brantford Speech of Prime Minister—Good Business, Asserts Mr. Bennett, Is Founded on Reciprocal Benefits

Canada Wants Broader Areas of Trade Developed

VANCOUVER, June 17.—Before the largest meeting of his election campaign, Hon. R. B. Bennett here tonight had sharp strictures for the Brantford speech of Premier King. It was one of the chief addresses of the Conservative chief in his itinerary in the Pacific Coast Province. "Mr Mackenzie King, in his opening speech at Brantford last night, of which I have not yet a complete report," Mr. Bennett declared, "again offered to this country a full explanation of some, not all, of the policies of his party during the last session of Parliament, with all the persuasiveness at his command."

"At Winnipeg, June 9, I stated as clearly as I was able the policies of the Conservative party, and I gave, in the name of myself and of its members, our pledge to carry them into effect. I shall not support these policies by further extended arguments tonight; that will come another time. But it seems to me that I might help the people of this country to judge fairly as to the basic principles underlying these two policies, if I were now to state, as simply as possible, why Mr. Mackenzie King and I differ in respect to some of them."

RECIPROCAL BENEFITS
"Mr. Mackenzie King spoke at length on what he may term his scheme of British preferential tariff, and what he probably means as his proposals for Empire trade. In Winnipeg, I said, as a sign of affection and goodwill, as an expression of the hope we all have that some day a closer economic alliance of Empire states may find a being. I commend the measure for British preference which the Government has introduced. As an exposition of the principles on which may be built an enduring structure of Empire trade, however, I cannot give them my support. A sound partnership is founded on mutual interest. Good business is predicated upon reciprocal benefits. Mr. Mackenzie King's scheme of elementary principles of business."

"He had no knowledge, apparently, of this most elementary one, when he attempted (if he seriously meant to attempt), to develop Empire trade in this way."
"And there is no true Canadian who would not gladly surrender some personal advantage to help the people of the parent state."

BROADER AREAS
"But Britain neither needs nor asks for help like that. What she wants is what we want: broader areas of trade, developed through an alliance to which we each bring Continued on Page 2, Column 5

Caravan Recalls Building of Road Which Made Placer Development Possible

FINE RECEPTION IS TENDERED PREMIER

QUESNEL, B.C., June 17.—Golden Cariboo, recalling that the historic road that made possible the development of the placers of the district when British Columbia was young, was at first declared to be a fantastic dream and its promoters visionaries, has become enthusiastic over the possibilities of the Alton Highway. This was demonstrated in no uncertain measure at Williams Lake and elsewhere along the route of the old road where the international caravan stopped.

Frank Terrace, of Seattle, seventy-eight-year-old pioneer of American good roads, in picturesque language, unfolded to the vision of the people of Cariboo, as perhaps no other of the members of the party has done, the possibilities and earning possibilities of the projected highway.

Liberals Nominate Mr. Munn

NORTH VANCOUVER, June 17.—Mr. Alfred Ernest Munn, lumberman, of Lillooet, and former M.P.P. for the constituency, was the unanimous choice of the Liberal Convention held here tonight, for Vancouver North in the Federal election. He was proposed by Mr. Thomas Mills and seconded by Mr. George Hay. Only one nomination was received.
A resolution was passed unanimously promising loyal support to the Mackenzie King Government.
In expressing thanks for the nomination, Mr. Munn pointed out that all must work to secure the victory. There was a real fight ahead, he warned.

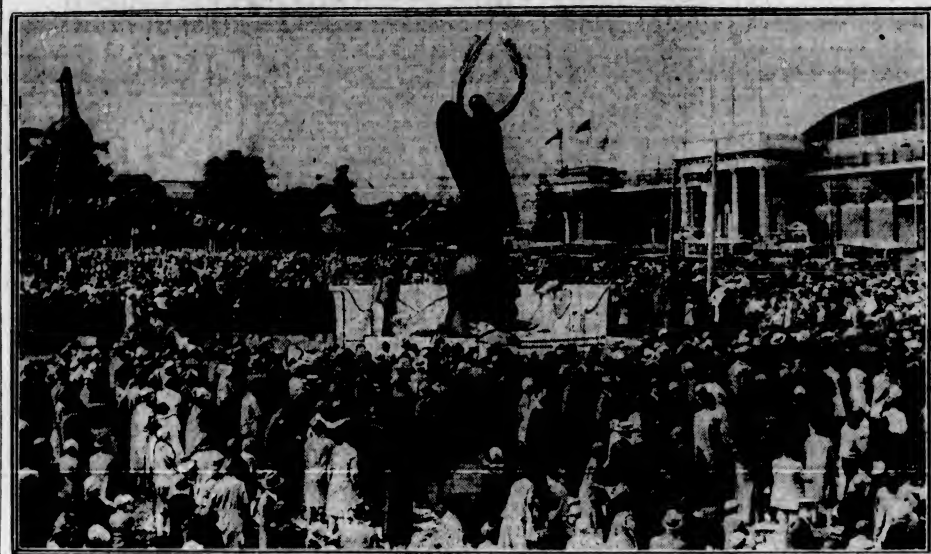

Nine Persons Are Killed by Texas Storms and Floods

DALLAS, Texas, June 17.—Nine persons were dead today as a result of storms and sudden floods in West Texas during the last three days.

Rush Supplies to Stranded Peace River Migrants

EDMONTON, June 17.—Answering urgent appeals from prospective Peace River district settlers stranded at Smith as a result of torrential rains which have swept away highway and railway lines, a monoplane was winging its way northwards soon after noon today, bearing supplies of bread and meat.
"There are 120 people stranded, mainly motorists who have been making their way north. Women and children are suffering, as supplies are short," came the first message telling of the plight of the migrants at Smith.
Investigation of the circumstances was made difficult through disruption of the communication facilities, but through the co-operation of the North Alberta Railway telegraph officials here it was learned that a shortage of bread and meat was inflicting hardship upon the stranded people.
Supplies of meat and bread were procured and placed in the northbound plane, which took off at 1:30 p.m.

Shriners' Monument to Peace at Toronto

THE above photograph shows the Peace Monument in Exhibition Park, Toronto, the unveiling of which brought to an impressive conclusion the Mystic Shrine's fifty-sixth convention. This photograph was taken just after the actual drapes had fallen aside and the superb lines of the statue were revealed to the huge crowd gathered to witness the ceremony. A replica of the monument was unveiled by Mrs. Leo V. Youngworth, wife of the Past Imperial Potentate. Thousands of Shriners and citizens of Toronto attended the dedication ceremonies.

Premier King Will Speak in Victoria On Monday, July 7

VANCOUVER, June 17.—Senator J. H. King announced here tonight that Prime Minister Mackenzie King will open his election campaign meetings in British Columbia on Friday, July 4, when he will speak at Revelstoke on his way to the Pacific Coast. The Prime Minister will arrive in Vancouver on Sunday, July 6, and proceed to Victoria, where he will address the electorate on Monday evening July 7. On July 8 he will speak in Vancouver, and on Wednesday, July 9, in Kamloops.

Chinese Rebels Are Fighting Vigorously On Several Fronts

SHANGHAI, June 17.—Thrown back today in their drive upon the sister cities of Wuchang, Hankow and Han-yang, in Central China, the rebels advanced in several other sections, making the Government's tenure more precarious.

Led by President Chiang Kai-shek, 50,000 Nationalists defeated the Southern rebels' main column south of Wuchang and recaptured Yochow and Changsha in Hunan Province, but other rebel columns eluded them. One approached Shashi, important Yangtze River city above Hankow, while the other swam eastward into Kiangsi Province, threatening Nanchang and Kinkiang.

MAY MOVE NORTH
The latter column, already joined by bandit hordes, may unite with Communist armies that have been devastating Kiangsi and threaten the Nationalist capital, Nanking.
In another area 50,000 Northern Alliance rebels were reported to have captured Tsainan, capital of Shantung Province after a week of fighting.

Other Northerners, pushing Nationalist forces southward along the railway, reached Chumien, about 175 miles north of their objective.
RAID ON AIR BASE
The Northern cavalry raided the Nationalist air base on the Hsiao-tung-kwan Railway, destroyed eleven airplanes.

The Nationalists, however, announce they would begin a major offensive on this important front from where the rebels have been trying in a series of battles since May 8 to break through to Nanking.

CUSTOMS COMMISSIONER
With banditry spreading in Southern China, the Government's bad economic condition was made worse by the Northerners' seizure of customs facilities at Tientsin. Yen Hsi-shan, head of the rebel Coalition, appointed Mr. Bertram Lennox-Simpson, author and journalist, to replace Col. Hayley Bell as commissioner of customs. Colonel Bell cabled the Inspector-General of Customs at Shanghai, for instructions. Pending receipt he declined to yield his position, which assures the payment of all customs revenue into foreign banks for allotment to the payment of foreign loans and the Boxer indemnity.

WESTERN CADETS RECEIVE AWARDS

KINGSTON, Ont., June 17.—At Royal Military College, closing day prizes were awarded to these Western cadets: J. D. Groves, Victoria, commissioned to Royal Engineers; D. E. McIntosh, Victoria, to Royal Canadian Signals; R. Irving, Kamloops, to 5th B.C. Light Horse; and D. L. White, Vancouver, to the Irish Fusiliers of Canada. D. E. McIntosh won binoculars as a prize in general proficiency in military subjects. J. D. Groves got prize in tactics.

REGARDED AS TEST PROSECUTION

PORT ALBERNI, June 17.—Dr. A. F. Barton, of Victoria, appeared before Magistrate A. G. Freese here this evening, summoned on two informations for practicing medicine in the city contrary to the Medical Act. He was fined $25.
In imposing the fine the magistrate pointed out that this case was a test one, and as such he placed the amount at the minimum.
Evidence was submitted that on June 6, Dr. Barton prescribed treatment for two local residents, one suffering from a broken hip, and the other from stomach trouble.
Under cross-examination defendant stated that he had inserted Continued on Page 2, Column 4

Coronation of Rumanian King Set for October

BUCHAREST, June 17.—Now that Carol II has swept obstacles from his path to a full and valid kingship of Rumania, he made plans for an impressive coronation that will be the last triumph in the journey of an exile to a throne. The coronation will be held at Alba Julia, where the late King Ferdinand was crowned, and has been set for October. It is believed October 11 will be the date, for it was on that day in 1914 that his father became king of the Balkan kingdom.

Germany Spends Too Much, Says Expert Critic

By EDGAR ANSEL MOWBRAY (Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

BERLIN, Germany, June 17.—First newspaper comment on the last report of Mr. S. Parker Gilbert as agent-general of reparations, is almost unanimous in admitting that a large part of the agent's criticism of German spending and failure to reform finances is justified. Only Herr Alfred Hugenberg's "Nacht Ausgabe" claims that the real trouble with German finances is not over-spending, but the necessity of paying reparations. Other newspapers publish long articles deploring Mr. Gilbert's criticism, but expressing the hope that Government circles will study the report attentively, and finally raise the energy to realize now the ancient promises of lowering expenses and reforming the financial structure of the nation.

MAN STRUCK BY PASSING AUTOMOBILE

Louis Jackson Sustains Serious Injuries on Bay Street at Late Hour
IS FOUND BY MOTORMAN
Apparently the victim of a "hit-and-run driver," Louis Jackson, a member of the crew of the light-house tender Estevan, lies in the Jubilee Hospital today with a compound fracture of one of his legs and a broken arm.
According to the police report of the accident Jackson was found lying on the south side of Bay Street, at Turner Street, by Motorman Cross, of the B.C. Electric Railway, at about 11:30 o'clock last night. Finding the man in this condition, he immediately notified the police and Constable MacPherson and Driver P. Atkinson rushed to the scene and removed the injured man to the Jubilee Hospital. While Jackson was being taken to the hospital in the police ambulance Dr. McKelvey was called, and on his arrival at the Jubilee Hospital attended the injured man.

LAD LOSES LIFE IN ENGLISH BAY

VANCOUVER, June 17.—Billy McKennie, aged seven, lost his life in English Bay early this evening when he slipped into the water while walking the crossbeam on the piers under the Winter Garden Pavilion. Another youngster, Gordon McPhail, aged twelve, was the only witness to the tragedy. He attempted to reach his unfortunate companion but to no avail.

Flyer to Give Up Aviation After Atlantic Hop

DUBLIN, June 17.—When Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith sets foot on the American continent at the end of his forthcoming transatlantic flight he will have completed his last aerial adventure. Keeping a pledge to his bride-to-be, Miss Mary Powell, daughter of a Melbourne, Australia, merchant, the intrepid air hero, who has flown across the Pacific Ocean, will give up aviation after the Atlantic hop.
He will sell the Southern Cross, the "patchwork" plane in which he and other flyers have reeled off approximately 70,000 miles in 750 flying hours, marry the girl of his heart, and rest on his honors.
Captain Kingsford-Smith revealed today that Miss Powell, whom he met last year on a mail boat going out to Australia, had exacted the promise from him as a condition of their betrothal.
The plane Southern Cross itself is made of two planes used by Sir Hubert Wilkins in Arctic explorations.

Sons of Freedom Taken Beyond City Limits of Nelson

Bundled Into Trucks, Thirty-Seven Doukhobors Are Whisked Through Interior Centre From Boundary Line on Spokane-Nelson Highway—Mayor Forbids Them to Parade in City

Further Marches Along Highways Are Planned

NELSON, B.C., June 17.—Bundled into trucks without much persuasion some thirty-seven Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, were early this afternoon rushed through the city of Nelson from the boundary line on the Spokane-Nelson highway and deposited outside the city limits on the Granite Road, which leads to Brilliant and other Doukhobor centres. There was no trouble given the police. It was a detached lot of Doukhobors that boarded the buses and were whisked through about twelve city blocks to outside the limits.

A carload of Provincial Police officers were at hand on the highway to be ready if any disturbing or other events took place, but nothing out of the way occurred. At present, thirty-seven strong, pulling a two-wheeled cart of supplies and clothing, the paraders are headed from Nelson.

NO SINGING
There was no singing as the marchers wended their way from Nelson. There were no complaints of rough handling by the police. They had been moved from Nelson and were on their way.
While the group claims that it has no leader, Paul Vatkin, convicted last summer for disturbing in public, is acting as leader and, according to the police, the paraders are headed from Nelson.
He stated that there would be further marches along the highways for the sake of freedom. There were 400 more Sons of Freedom encamped at Porto Rico, about twenty miles from Nelson. These would be on the march soon, he said.
The Doukhobors staged their march from Porto Rico on Monday and camped that night within four miles of Nelson. This morning they moved up to the city limits.

PETERBORO HEARS LIBERAL LEADER

PETERBORO, Ont., June 17.—New ground was broken by Premier Mackenzie King at his second campaign meeting here tonight. The St. Lawrence waterways, the employment problem, and finally the "five-cent speech" all found a place in the pronouncement of the Prime Minister, which was listened to by a large audience gathered inside and outside the Armories.

With respect to the St. Lawrence waterways, to which he devoted some time, Mr. King suggested that the time might not be far distant when problems which have delayed the construction of that great waterway might be cleared away. Progress in adjusting differences over the power questions with the provinces was being made, but the point had not yet been reached when negotiations should be undertaken with the United States Government.

BOY STRUCK BY THROWN STICK

(By District Correspondent)
COURTENAY, June 17.—Immediately upon the conclusion of the inquest on Thomas Patrick Guthrie, the coroner issued his warrant of apprehension for Patrick Hugh Guthrie, for detention by the police, and the latter is now held at the police station, Courtenay.
Young Guthrie died at St. Joseph's Hospital, Comox, following a blow with a stick. He was sixteen years of age.
The inquest verdict was that Guthrie came to his death by misadventure, as the result of being struck on the head by a stick thrown at him by his father.
The father admitted throwing the Continued on Page 2, Column 3

City Dept. Shortage Revealed

VANCOUVER, June 17.—Shortage of approximately $1,000 in the accounts of the city sewer department was disclosed by the civic auditors today. Mayor W. H. Malkin announced tonight.
The amount of discrepancies already revealed is only an estimate and auditors are proceeding with their work. It will be several days, the Mayor said, before a report of auditors on the sewer department can be presented.
The audit in this department commenced on Saturday.

YAKUTSK, U.S.S.R., June 17.—The sudden overflowing of the Ena River in this eastern section of Siberia, has swept away 346 homes and twenty other buildings. Many cattle were drowned and other damage was heavy.

Conservatives Will Nominate This Evening

No Opposition to Mr. D. B. Plunkett Expected When Delegates Assemble for Selection
ADDRESS TO BE GIVEN BY MR. LADNER
Tonight the Conservatives of the city will make choice of the candidate who will represent the party at the Dominion election. There is no doubt the selection will be Mr. D. B. Plunkett, who has given signal service to the city as member during the term which he has filled the position at Ottawa.

It is expected that Mr. Leon Ladner, K.C., of Vancouver, will attend the meeting this evening and will deliver an address upon the issues of the election and upon the work which has been done by the Conservative members in the House of Commons.
The gathering will be held in the Conservative Rooms in the Campbell Building, commencing at 8 o'clock. The chair will be taken by Mr. R. A. Wootton, president of the central executive.

TRADE DATA WATCHED BY POLITICIANS

First Figures Released on Effect of Tariff Upon National Revenue Since Dunning Budget

VALUABLE FOR PLATFORM TALK

Wheat Export Is Only One-Half of That Reported in May, 1929, and Wheat Flour Much Less

(Associated Press)

OTTAWA, Ont., June 17.—The trade figures released this afternoon by the Department of National Revenue are of more than usual significance in that they are the first returns since the provisions came into effect. Most of the tariff changes in the new budget became applicable as soon as the speech of Hon. C. A. Dunning was delivered on May 1 last. The figures made public today are for the entire month of May.

EXPERTS CAUTIOUS
Tariff experts of the Department of Finance were recently asked if the extent to which the new tariff schedules meant an upward or downward revision could be ascertained by taking the amount of goods imported for one month since the budget came into effect, and the duties collected on them, and compare these with the figures for the corresponding month last year. The reply was that they eventually would arrive at a fairly accurate conclusion. However, the tariff experts took the position that June would be a better month than May to work out such a trend because the first month of the new tariff would see so many adjustments. There is no doubt, however, that many conjectures will be drawn from the present figures.

THE COMPARISON

The following is the comparison for the months of May, 1930 and 1929:

Imports for consumption, free	1,373,331.31	$1,771,743.83
Imports for consumption, dutiable	64,337.01	$3,943.41
Total imports for consumption	1,437,668.32	$1,775,687.24
Customs duties collected	$15,440.810	$19,899.384
Less refunds and drawbacks	2,137.204	1,048.334
Net Customs collected	$13,303.606	$18,851.050

TOTAL REVENUE
The total revenue last month from Customs duties, excise taxes, excise duties and sundry collections, less refunds and drawbacks, was $25,540,625, as compared with $30,158,972 collected in May, 1929. On the other hand, the income tax revenue last month was $39,113,718, and for May, 1929, it was $44,961,087.

Total exports of Canadian products last month was $77,260,557, and the total for May, 1929, was $107,472,827. Foreign products re-exported totaled $3,203,152 last month and $1,963,109 in May, 1929.

EXPORT ITEMS

Canada's principal items of export last month, and the corresponding month last year, follow:
Wheat	May, 1930 May, 1929
Wheat flour	2,843,843 7,761,397

JURY DECIDES DEATH DUE TO MISADVENTURE

stick which struck the youth, who ran away. About three hours later the boy returned home, and complained of feeling unwell, and cold. He was put to bed while neighbors sent for the doctor. David Guthrie, a brother, gave corroborative evidence.

Dr. T. A. Briggs, the attending physician, on his arrival, ordered the removal of the boy to the hospital. There he succumbed on Sunday afternoon.

The post-mortem examination was conducted by Dr. P. R. Hicks. In giving evidence Dr. Hicks said that he had found a small piece of stick which had penetrated the skull, and this had caused the hemorrhage. The stick had acted as a plug, and prevented the blood from flowing from the wound. This affected the brain and prevented the functioning of the system, eventually causing death.

Sergeant Mansell, of the British Columbia Provincial Police, acted as coroner's officer, while the father of the lad retained Mr. T. Pearce as counsel.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 17.—The Provincial Government is to give immediate relief to unemployed men of Winnipeg and district. The night Mr. A. McNamara, of the Provincial Bureau of Labor, announced that road construction work, to cost approximately $800,000, would be commenced at once in the Municipality of West Kildonan, to the north of Winnipeg.

Speaking at a dinner given at Williams Lake, he drew a picture of development opportunities that would follow the event of transportation to the northern half of British Columbia, and showed how, with American money and American advertising ability concentrating at both ends of the highway, and directing traffic through British Columbia, the trade would flow north and south to and from Alaska.

MAJOR E. B. HART, OF WILLIAMS LAKE, WHO HAD GEOGRAPHICALLY EXPLORED THE COUNTRY TO THE NORTH OF HASTINGS, STATED THAT THE VASTNESS OF THE UNDEVELOPED RESOURCES OF THE NORTHERN HALF OF THE PROVINCE, WHICH WOULD BE TAPPED BY SUCH A TRANSPORTATION ARTERY, WERE ALMOST ENTIRELY UNKNOWN.

Premier Tolmie, who was given a most enthusiastic reception by the gathering, that was of such proportions that the stampee halls were required to accommodate the dinner guests, reviewed the part that road building had played in the development of British Columbia, and recalled the manner in which the several transportation enterprises of the province from its inception as a Crown colony had been criticized. He dwelt at some length upon the advantages to British Columbia as a whole that would result from the building of the road through to Alaska, and gave further assurance that, when the time arrived to commence construction of this work, it would not interfere in any way with the road development plans and enterprises for the other parts of British Columbia. The party went on through the rain from Williams Lake this morning, and after stopping for lunch proceeded to Barkerville for the night.

JOIN IN THE TREK

The idea of travelling northward through British Columbia is taking hold of the imagination of the American tourists, and several cars from the United States have been encountered on their way to the end of the highway. One great motor truck fitted out with sleeping accommodations and bearing the legend, "San Francisco to Hazelton," is keeping pace with the caravan. It bears Dr. Smith and family from the Golden Gate.

AMENDMENT OF THIS YEAR

Mr. M. B. Jackson, K.C., who appeared for the defendant, made an effort to have the charge dismissed under the 1930 amendment to the British Columbia Medical Act, which is to the effect that anyone practicing under religious tenets of a church without professing a knowledge of medicine shall not come under the Medical Act.

Defence counsel made a spirited attack on the medical profession, and he clashed with Mr. H. B. Robertson, K.C., of Vancouver, who appeared for the prosecution, on several occasions during the trial.

The courtroom was crowded, the importance of the case drawing great interest in the hearing.

Associated with counsel were Mr. L. A. Hanna, M.P.P., for the defence, and Mr. Gordon Campbell for the prosecution.

End Piles Quick

No Salves or Cutting

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal medicine can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. E. Lehar, removes this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. HEM-ROID is now sold by drug-gists everywhere, and has such a wonderful record of success even in chronic and stubborn cases that MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantee money-back if it does not end all Pile misery. ACCOUNTANT IN RELIEF OFFICE IS SUSPENDED

Margaret Ogden, who died November 25, 1927. He was unable to explain what had become of certain cancelled checks amounting to $700 which were shown as issued and cashed.

SOLLOWAY, MILLS & CO.
Evidence submitted before the inquiry revealed that Solloway, Mills & Company received checks aggregating $1,400 from the account administered by Ireland and referred to as the "Mrs. Ogden fund." From another trust account handled by the former relief officer, a cheque for $387 was issued to the same firm of brokers.

During the cross-examination by Mr. George E. McCrossman, K.C., the former city relief officer sat calmly in the witness chair and scrutinized the checks presented to him by counsel. His answers were clear and only at times did he avert his eyes in reply to questions.

Cheques issued against the trust funds administered by Ireland revealed that payments had been made from these funds to several of the employees in the relief department. Among these were Clifton Maxwell, discharged clerk, serving sentence for theft of money; and admitted supremacy. Hutchins, James Dodd, J. W. Meadows, Alexander Scott, discharged superintendent of Old People's Home Farm, and William Paton, truck and utility man.

These checks were issued in the nature of loans to members of the relief office staff, Ireland told the self-committee.

"And the Solloway-Mills cheques?" counsel asked.

"Those were personal," witness replied.

"Any authority for those?"

"No, sir."

Faced with the cheque made out to Miss Agnes May, employee of the department, Ireland said it was personal to him.

"I gave it to her and she cashed it for me."

Alderman John Bennett asked witness if City Comptroller A. J. Pilkington knew how many trust accounts he administered.

"No," Ireland replied.

"Did they happen to come under your jurisdiction?"

"At CITIZENS' REQUEST"

"Some private citizens asked me to administer them, they did not want the funds to go through the city box."

"Did you ever take up the administration of these trust accounts with the chairman of the relief committee?"

"No."

Recalled to the stand, J. H. McCashin, chief clerk of the relief department, said Ireland was the only one having access to the trust accounts. He admitted that a shortage of almost $1,500 existed, of which only $355 was acknowledged by Ireland.

Referring to Mayor W. H. Malkin, witness said Ireland took over the trust account of Mrs. Ogden in August, 1928, and had kept it since that time.

The inquiry adjourned until the call of the chair.

Following the hearing of witnesses given at today's session before the civic committee investigating the relief department, the transcript of the evidence was given to Major W. M. McKay, city prosecutor, to advise on further action against Ireland.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF B.C. SUCCEUMS

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 17.—Mr. Robert C. G. Roberts, fifty-four, born in Branford, Ont., and a resident of British Columbia for fifty-one years, died in St. Mary's Hospital. He resided at Crescent. Besides his widow, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Nixon, of Victoria, and Mrs. Wallace, of Maple Bay, Vancouver Island.

Forest Fire Situation Near Rossland Better

TRAIL, B.C., June 17.—The forest fire situation around Summit, near Rossland, was reported much improved today. The wind died down during the night and a light rain fell this morning.

Two hundred men are fighting the outbreak.

the powers which have made us what we are. She wants with us a greater Empire of the future. And for that, we Canadians must build a greater Canada. Or what is good for one is good for both; and what is bad for one cannot avail the other.

"To grant trade preference to another state of the Empire without founding these preferences on a mutually helpful treaty is unadvised business, profitless and productive of ill-will and misunderstanding."

CANNOT PREVAIL
"The Empire cannot prevail over such wanton foolishness."

"Canada cannot afford such meaningless prodigality. The Empire neither asks for them nor desires them. For we are an Empire of sensible men and women, and sensible men and women know that I speak the plain truth. At another time in the near future I shall speak at greater length on this all-important subject."

ECONOMIC WAR

"To Mr. Mackenzie King, trade means exchange. He says so, barrier and exchange. To me he says: 'Trade means economic war.' What is the difference, and which is true. He stated in his speech last night: 'It is not an elementary principle that trade is secured by developing friendliness and co-operation.'"

"I say, 'Yes.' I marvel then at Mr. Mackenzie King who, after his adventures in international diplomacy and international trade

NEW GROUND IS BROKEN BY PREMIER

"We tried to settle that," declared the Prime Minister.

THE NEXT STEP

"We have had conferences with the Premiers, and while very considerable progress has been made, full settlement has not been reached. That is the reason why we have not been able to take the next step on the question of approaching the United States as to the final negotiations in the question."

Referring to Premier Ferguson's statement that he was prepared to take the platform, and use all the power of his Government against this man, all on account of a five-cent piece, the Prime Minister asked his audience to listen to the figures which he was about to quote and then ask yourself if a five-cent piece is a ground for a quarrel between Governments. He then proceeded to enumerate the sums which, he said, the present Government had, since it came into power, paid to the Province of Ontario in subsidies running into millions of dollars.

MAINLAND WOMEN HEAR MR. BENNETT

Conservative Leader Discusses "Canadian Consociationism" in Address Before Club in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, June 17.—When Canada sells her raw materials to other nations she dissipates capital, and unless she utilizes the proceeds of those sales to build up her own industrial life, she has parted with her capital in vain.

With the foregoing argument as his keynote, Hon. R. B. Bennett, K.C., M.P., leader of the Conservative party, spoke to a luncheon gathering today under the auspices of the Conservative Women's Club, his luncheon attracting nearly seven hundred women.

Taking for his theme "Canadian Consociationism," the Conservative leader sketched the elements which have, and are, going into the creation of a Canadian soul. Then he came to the subject of trade.

"Other nations of the world must buy what we have. But what are we parting with when we sell such products as pulp and blister copper to other nations? We are parting with our own industrial life. They are parting with their own industrial life. What do we do with the money that comes to us from the sale of this capital?"

"If these returns are not utilized in building up our own industrial life, then we have parted with our capital in vain."

"Look here, don't you make a fool of me," roared Bennett to me the other day, "I couldn't," I snaps, "I'm too late."

"So will I, when government is mine, continue to blast a way through all our troubles and difficulties. What else would I be there for—to cringe to others with soft words, and to recoil from each rebuff? That is not Canada's way. That is not my party's way. If it were, she and we as well would be untrue to the men and women who have made us what we are."

AT NORTH VANCOUVER
NORTH VANCOUVER, April 17.—Hon. R. B. Bennett, Federal Conservative leader, was given a great reception when he addressed a crowded audience here tonight. Lieutenant-Colonel C. J. Lemox was in the chair.

Referring to the friction over the New Zealand treaty, he asked how was the British Empire to be made strong, and replied that trade treaties should be mutually advantageous and reciprocal benefits, and not arouse friction between the component parts.

FIRST TO DRIVE TO FORT GEORGE

Mr. J. L. Rutan Bull Towns of Fort Fraser and Vanderhoof in Early Days

In connection with the interest which has lately been aroused over the caravan expedition to Hazelton, Mr. J. L. Rutan, one of the pioneers of that district, made an interesting statement to The Colonist last night.

In the Spring of 1910, Mr. Rutan drove the first wagon into Fort George, cutting every inch of the trail as he went. He had settled in that country before the first blaze had been made in railroad survey.

In the same year he brought the first car to Fort Fraser, Burns Lake and Fort St. James.

He came to Fort Fraser with the machinery for a sawmill, cutting his own trail and drawing his machinery with twenty-five horses for the last 170 miles from Quesnel. Mr. Rutan was responsible for the building of Fort Fraser and, after operating the mill there for two years moved it to Vanderhoof, which town he also built, and where he turned out lumber for the next seven years.

Mr. Rutan was born at Enderby, Ontario, in the year 1863, but has lived most of his life in British Columbia, making his permanent home at Enderby for twenty-seven years. He was mayor of this city for four years.

After leaving Vanderhoof, he moved his mill to Elsie Lake, which is situated forty miles east of Fort George, and, two years later, moved to Falkland, situated between Kamloops and Vernon, where he operated for the next eight years. He is intimately acquainted with the Peace River country, and clearly remembers the expedition to Fort George in 1913, he having been in that country for the previous three years.

CAR FINANCE CASE REHEARD BY NEW JURY

Stanley E. Wallis and W. N. Tompkins Take Stand in Own Defence at Fresh Trial

TRUE BILLS FOUND IN THREE CASES

A complete denial of wrongful intention was made by William N. Tompkins on the stand in his own defence yesterday afternoon, at the trial of Stanley E. Wallis and himself on a charge of obtaining $168,540 from Rihet Consolidated, Limited, by false pretence.

The trial of the two accused commenced for the second time yesterday morning, after a first trial jury had been discharged on the day previously, when one juror was disqualified and fined for misconduct. The hearing will proceed this morning before Mr. Justice Gregory, and the second trial jury, Mr. A. M. Johnson, K.C., appears for the Crown, and Mr. Stuart Henderson for both of the accused.

On the witness stand in his own defence Tompkins stated he had been under the impression that he had to go through the motion of buying a car shown to him by Wallis on the floor of the Consolidated Motors, Victoria, Limited, show-rooms in order that he might drive it in demonstrations, with the ultimate object of selling it again and getting the commission for a sale.

He had worked as a licensed salesman for the company on a part time basis, and had effected the sale of several cars on which he had received commissions, continued Tompkins. Independently of that, continued the witness, he operated a hotel which rendered him independent of the commissions from his car sales.

He had signed the conditional agreement for sale, in which was cited as the buyer of the car, in the belief that was the regular practice for a salesman, and the only means by which he could obtain possession of the car in demonstrations, and later to resell, reiterated Tompkins.

Under cross-examination Tompkins averred he had not read the agreement, but took Wallis' word that the affair was in order, and that he, Wallis, would meet the notes when they due. He had turned over due notices received from the financing company to Wallis, when they arrived, stated witness further. Tompkins stated, in answer to further questions, that he had no intimation the Consolidated Motors, Victoria, Limited, was otherwise than "well known" and he had not questioned the whole arrangement.

INVITED SIGNATURE

Preceding Tompkins on the stand, Wallis testified that he had asked Tompkins to sign the agreement in question. At that time he, Wallis, had had a purchaser for a car in prospect, and wanted to use the trial on a charge of making use of a forged cheque. An indictment of three counts was returned against Kenneth C. Brown, alleging theft at Galiano Island. The Consolidated Motors, Victoria, Limited, was the subject of a third true bill reported, charging theft against that company as a corporate body.

CHARACTER ESSAY TEST IS DECIDED

William Campbell Wins N. Saanich Service Club Competition for Prize Contribution

JUSTICE MURPHY'S ADDRESS IS BASIS

The reading of the essays on British character, which were submitted by children attending schools on Vancouver Island and adjacent islands in connection with the essay competition sponsored by the North Saanich Service Club, has been completed by the adjudicating committee consisting of Mr. H. Despard Twigg, M.P.P., Mr. B. C. Nicholas, editor of the Victoria Daily Times, and Dr. S. J. Willis, superintendent of education.

THE COMPETITION

The objects of the competition were set forth in a circular sent out by the Minister of Education to the 300 schools on Vancouver Island and nearby islands, and to ask the teachers to recommend to their pupils that they carefully study the address in order that they may be able to write essays on such attributes of British character as in their opinion are most to be admired. It is desirable that the principals and teachers encourage their pupils to take part in the competition and also to impress on them that the aim of the North Saanich Service Club and of the Department of Education is to inculcate the highest ideals of the British race and to develop the best type of character.

THE AWARDS

The honor of securing first place goes to William Campbell, Monterey School, Oak Bay.

Young Campbell thereby is awarded the medalion as presented to the North Saanich Service Club by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, and his essay will be used by the Minister of Education as material for the British Columbia School Journal. The one-room school sending in the five best essays is Beaver Point, which wins a prize of several volumes for the school library. It was not an easy task for the judges to decide which of the graded schools competing should be given the award. First place has been assigned to Duncan High School. Other graded schools deserving of honorable mention for the fine work of the pupils are: Monterey, Quadra and North Saanich. To Willows School goes the honor of having sent in the greatest number of essays, numbering thirty-three, being closely followed by North Saanich with twenty-nine.

To Stanley Moodie, Willows School, Oak Bay, a silver medal has been awarded by the North Saanich Service Club as an award of merit for the high quality of his essay.

Presentation of the awards will be made by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, on some appropriate occasion.

o'clock, proceeding to St. Stephen's Church, Mount Newton, where an impressive service was conducted by Rev. J. S. A. Bastin at 11 a.m. The hymns were "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me." A profusion of beautiful floral designs covered the casket and hearse. The pallbearers were His Honor Judge P. S. Lammiman, Col. the Hon. F. G. Hood, Messrs. T. E. Lammiman, H. G. Kennard, A. Buckle and G. Williams. The remains were laid to rest in St. Stephen's churchyard.

BARR—The death occurred yesterday at the family residence, Wilkinson Road, of Mrs. Christine Barr, aged seventy-eight years, a native of Scotland and a resident of Saanich for fourteen years. Mrs. Barr is survived by two sons, John and David, and five daughters, Mrs. Crooks (Victoria), Mrs. Hannah (Nanaimo), Mrs. Honeychurch (Victoria), and the Misses Hannah and Nancy Barr. The remains are resting at the Thomson & Fetherly Funeral Home from where the funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. H. A. Ireland will officiate. Interment will be in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

TAYLOR—The funeral took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from St. John's Church of Mrs. Jane Taylor. The services were conducted by Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick. There was a large gathering of friends and many beautiful floral offerings covered the casket. The hymns sung were "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." The funeral acted as pallbearers: Messrs. R. R. Taylor, A. O'Meara, A. S. Barton and Blankenbaugh. Interment was made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

SMITH—There passed away on Sunday, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Mrs. Viola May Smith, aged twenty-four years. Her late residence was Estevan Point, B.C. She is survived by, besides her husband, an infant son, her father, of Victoria, and a sister in Vancouver. The funeral will take place this morning from the Sands Funeral Chapel at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. J. B. Rowell will conduct the service. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

RALPH—The death took place yesterday at St. Joseph's Hospital of George William Ralph, five-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Ralph, 3586 Calumet Avenue. The funeral will be held tomorrow from the Sands Funeral Chapel at 2 o'clock. Rev. F. W. McKinnon will conduct the service.

MOTORISTS APPRECIATE BEACON LIGHT

Mr. C. H. Dickie Tells How Aid to Navigation Was Obtained for Landmark

MEMORIAL CAIRN IS THUS UNIQUE

Those driving along the Island Highway during the night time have their attention attracted to a light which shines for some distance along the road in the vicinity of Duncan. The light is explained by the fact that largely through the efforts of Captain Groves, of Westholme, and a body of associated returned men, the cairn was reconstructed recently on Mount Prevost. This monument has been set out more conspicuously by the fact that a light similar to those used as aids to navigation has been placed on the summit, making it possible to see it at night for a distance of fifteen miles in any direction.

The placing of the light upon the monument to those who fell in the Great War was secured through the efforts of Mr. C. H. Dickie, who has represented the return of Nanaimo for a number of years in the House of Commons. Mr. Dickie is one of the most popular members on either side of the House. His popularity served its purpose in securing the light from a Government which was not of the same political complexion as is Mr. Dickie. Mr. Dickie approached the Minister of Marine and asked him for this light to be placed on the monument on Mount Prevost. Hon. P. J. A. Caron demurred somewhat but Mr. Dickie has a manner which disarms all opposition to any of his desires, and the minister, after a little hesitation, gave his promise to place the light there, which was done.

STATE FIRM SOLD SHORT ON STOCKS

Prevailing Policy of Solloway, Mills & Co. Stated by Witnesses at Barristers' Trial in Calgary

CALGARY, June 17.—That the prevailing policy of the firm of Solloway, Mills & Co., Ltd., was "short" was the testimony of Mr. George Kimmerley, chief trader, Toronto, during today's session of the conspiracy trial of I. W. C. Solloway and J. Harvey Mills, in the Supreme Court of Alberta.

Witness was examined by Mr. A. L. Smith, K.C., Crown counsel. Mr. Smith asked witness what the prevailing policy of the firm had been, and Mr. Kimmerley informed him it was "short."

"We maintained this position," generally speaking, witness said. "I believe you are now covered and are not short anywhere," Crown counsel asked.

Witness stated that as far as he knew Toronto, Vancouver and Calgary were "covered," and in reply to a question, stated that the shares to cover were obtained on all three exchanges.

"I take it that the accounts of persons operating on margin were taken over and the shares you owed to them were taken off your short position," Mr. Smith continued.

"Yes, and some were bought by private sale," Mr. Kimmerley replied.

Generally speaking, you were really short; it ran up into the hundreds of thousands, and you were short pretty well across the board," Mr. Smith queried.

Witness replied in the affirmative, but denied that he was suggesting that the firm had a source of supply from which they could get stock at any time.

COURT OF APPEAL Victoria Sittings

The King (R) vs. B.C. Fir & Cedar Lumber Co., Ltd. (A)—The hearing of the appeal in this case was concluded yesterday. Appellant contended that it was not liable to be assessed for income tax upon the amount received under policies of insurance against loss of profits during cessation of business consequent on a fire, usually known as use and occupancy insurance.

The Court of Appeal reserved judgment. Mr. Eric Pepler for the Crown; Mr. C. W. Craig, K.C., for appellant.

Nemets (A) vs. Telford et al. (R)—Appellant had agreed to purchase a piece of land in Vancouver from two of the respondents, and executed an agreement. He afterwards sued the vendors and their agent, the respondents in this case, for damages, alleging that he had been induced to enter into the agreement by misrepresentation as to the ownership and value of the property. The trial judge dismissed the action, and from his judgment the appellant is appealing. The hearing of the appeal is continuing.

Mr. J. W. deB. Parris, K.C., for appellant; Mr. C. W. Craig, K.C., for respondent Amess; Mr. H. C. Green for respondents F. W. and G. E. Telford.

far back as 1921 or 1922. He admitted that the absorption of clients in the house account was the exact opposite of Mr. Solloway's instructions. There must have been slackness somewhere, he said.

When the Calgary public was being asked to buy certain oil stocks, through paid advertisements inserted in the Calgary newspapers by Solloway, Mills & Co., the firm was selling short on these stocks, said W. Matthew, formerly manager of the Calgary office, under examination by Mr. A. L. Smith, K.C., Crown counsel.

Mr. Smith elicited from the witness that Solloway, Mills & Co. had purchased large blocks of shares in Calmont, Richfield, Southwest Petroleum, Associated, Mayland, Sunlight, Mercury, Home and Baltic companies.

Shown copies of advertisements which appeared in newspapers last year, in which recommendations were made regarding certain oil stocks, Mr. Matthew testified that in the case of three companies so recommended, Solloway, Mills & Co. did not own blocks of shares. These companies were Commonwealth, Freehold and A.P. Consolidated.

APART FROM TRADING

"The advertisements were prepared by our publicity men and I do not suppose the man in charge of trading looked at them," Mr. Matthew said. "They had nothing to do with trading."

Mr. Smith—Nevertheless, when you were advising the purchase of shares, under the name of your firm, you were selling short in these shares?

Witness—That is so. The witness agreed with Crown counsel that on May 1, 1929, the company was short 145,275 shares of A.P. Consolidated, and on June 8, 1929, the short position on this stock was 174,423 shares. The company was advising the purchase of A.P. Consolidated during this period through advertisements.

Cross-examined by A. A. McGillivray, K.C., leading defence counsel, Mr. Matthew asserted that there was no doubt but that the policy of brokers, other than his company, was to sell short.

BUTTE MACHINISTS GO OUT ON STRIKE

BUTTE, Mont., June 17.—Butte machinists, other than those employed by the mines, have gone on strike in protest to a proposed reduction of $1 a day in wages. A year ago, when business conditions in Butte were booming, a wage scale of $9 a day was fixed. Now employers seek to return to the old wage of $8. All automobile dealer shops are affected.

NEW GAS RATES ARE OFFERED TO VANCOUVER

City Council Refers B.C.
Electric Railway Co.'s Proposals to Utilities Committee for Report

CITY ASKED FOR GENERAL DECREASE

VANCOUVER, June 17.—A new schedule of gas rates, which will replace the present meter charge with a minimum rate and will afford a reduction to consumers of more than 700 cubic feet a month, has been offered to the city by President W. G. Murrin, of the B.C. Electric Railway Company.

The city council referred Mr. Murrin's proposals to the utilities committee for consideration and report.

Recently the city asked for a general reduction in gas rates and elimination of the monthly 25-cent meter charge.

Mr. Murrin replied offering a new schedule in which he provides a minimum charge of 75 cents for the first 300 cubic feet or less.

The remainder of the proposed new schedule is: For the next 700 cubic feet over the 300 minimum, $1.25 per 1,000 cubic feet; next 10,000 at $1.20 per 1,000; excess over 20,000 at $1.15 per 1,000.

PRESENT SCHEDULE

The present rate schedule is: First 1,000 cubic feet at $1.40; next 4,000 at $1.25 per 1,000; next 15,000 at $1.20 per 1,000; excess over 20,000 at $1.15 per 1,000.

The company's president also points out that the B.C.E.R. has already made a reduction in rates for supplying gas for water heaters when combined with gas fires or larger heating appliances.

Referring to suggestions that the quality of gas has on occasion dropped below the Government's standard, Mr. Murrin declares that since the new container was put into operation there has not been one such instance.

OREGON SENATOR PASSES SUDDENLY

CAMP CLATSOP, Ore., June 17.—Senator George W. Joseph, Republican nominee for governor, died at 8:45 a.m. here on the drill field of the Oregon National Guard encampment. He was talking with Major-General A. White when a heart attack seized him.

Mr. Joseph was watching the Oregon National Guardsmen at drill when he was struck, presumably with a heart attack. He died with a smile on his face and a joke on his lips.

Friend From New York Told Him About Sargon

THOMAS STACK

"When a friend of mine from New York visited me recently and told me about this new Sargon medicine, I had no idea it was going to mean the end of suffering that had made my life miserable for years."

"Stomach and intestinal disorders go hand with a man of my age and from New York told me about Sargon. I got to where I couldn't sleep and became subject to weak, dizzy spells and finally had to give up driving my car altogether. I couldn't even drink a glass of milk without having heartburn and indigestion, and some times the gas on my stomach was so awful that the pressure would seem to almost choke off my heart action."

"I'm situated so that I can live comfortably the rest of my days, but there was little consolation in that thought when I suffered such misery. None of the medicines I tried did me any good and I had given up in despair—just decided I might as well 'tarry along' to the end as best I could—when my friend from New York told me about Sargon. He said that the medicine was making a big hit in New York and seemed to be doing everybody good that tried it; so I went down to Tamblin's Drug Store and bought a treatment, along with the Sargon Pills.

"I had only used about half a bottle of Sargon and the same quantity of the Pills, when I noticed a big change for the better. I quit having indigestion and gas on my stomach; the rheumatic pains began to loosen their grip, and a feeling of new strength and vigor came over my entire system! I got out my car the other day and can now drive around as much as I please without being afraid of those dizzy spells. I'm eating heartily, sleeping well and enjoying life in every way."

"The Sargon Pills are the finest thing in the way of a laxative that I ever used. Instead of purging, they seem to work on the liver with a stimulating action that has a lasting effect and keeps the bowels regulated perfectly."

"Everyone I've recommended Sargon to tells me that it's doing them a world of good and I honestly believe it will help anyone suffering with troubles like mine, if they'll take the treatment faithfully."

The above statement was made by Thomas Stack, well-known retired business man, of 36 Beulah Ave., Hamilton, Ont.

Sargon may be obtained at all Owl Drug Stores in Victoria and Vancouver and Bews Drug Store in New Westminster. (Adv.)

Victoria Branch of Automobile Association Has 667 Members—Gasoline Prices Discussed

The Victoria branch of the Automobile Association of Canada now has a membership of 667, which shows a gain of ninety-one new members, and a net gain of thirty-one since January 1, the directors were informed by Rev. Montague Bruce, at the monthly meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

The meeting advocated improvement of the road from Butchart's Gardens to Mill Bay Ferry, while the question of the obstruction of the roads in the Happy Valley district was dealt with. The latter was due, it was alleged, to inefficient operation of the pound.

Victoria West Brotherhood had forwarded a letter to the association advocating the use of Craigflower Road as an Island Highway instead of the Gorge Road.

Difference in the price of gasoline in Coast cities was discussed, and it was pointed out that, in spite of the drastic cut in Seattle, bringing the retail price to 15 cents a gallon, local motorists were paying 33 cents, and at certain Up-Island points, such as Nanaimo, the price was even higher. The meeting was informed that a committee was appointed in Vancouver to deal with the matter.

U.S. TARIFF BILL SIGNED

President Says He Approves Measure in Interest of Business Stability—Exports Affected

1,122 CHANGES IN EXISTING DUTIES

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 17.—President Hoover today signed the tariff bill.

The new and higher duties on imports in the bill go into effect at midnight tonight.

Particularly inimical to Canadian interests in the bill are rates on cattle, beef, hides, leather, flaxseed, potatoes, milk and cream, maple sugar, fish and lumber. Increases on these products range from 10 to 150 per cent.

Canadian exports amounting to $15,000,000 yearly are affected by the measure.

BUSINESS STABILITY

President Hoover had announced in advance of receipt of the bill, he would approve it in the interest of business stability.

He believed the revised flexible protection, giving the tariff commission power to recommend rates for approval or rejection by the President, will afford an opportunity to correct any unfair rates, go a long way toward taking the tariff out of politics and obviate the necessity for another congressional revision "for many years to come."

The bill was signed one year, five months and ten days from the day the House ways and means committee began public hearings on the subject in the latter days of the Coolidge administration.

ITS PROVISIONS

It provides 1,122 changes in present duties, including 587 increases and 235 reductions. More than 250 of the advances are on agricultural products, including sugar, dairy products, grains, cattle, meats, fruits, vegetables, nuts and seeds.

Industrial products given rate boosts include textiles in the raw and semi-processed state, clothing of all kinds, manganese and zinc ores and scores of other commodities. Plate glass, aluminum and automobiles are the major products given lower rates.

Among forty-eight articles taken from the free list are soft wood lumber, cement, brick, long staple cotton, hides, leathers and shoes, list of seventy-five items placed on the free list.

"Gee," muttered Mr. 99 to his fellow-prisoner as they marched round and round the same old woe circle. "I'm going to have a good time when I get out of this rotten show. How about you?"
"I'm afraid I can't say," replied Mr. 100, a little diffidently. "You see, I'm in for life."

City & District

May Take Affidavits—Mr. Hugh Gilmour, commissioner under the Workmen's Compensation Board, has been empowered to issue order in council to take and receive affidavits, and affirmations in connection with the work of the board.

To Take Up Residence—Mr. Albert R. Lowrie, who recently acquired the Deerleap farm at Metchoin, one of the finest properties in that district, has arrived from Denver with his family. Mr. Lowrie flew to Victoria by seaplane.

Forthcoming Convention—The next convention, following the insurance gathering at present in progress, will be that of the Pacific Coast Paper Box Manufacturers, which will bring about seventy-five delegates to the Empress Hotel next week.

Invited to Sports—In an invitation from officers under the name of the B.C. Coast Brigade, G.G.A., Mayor Anson and Aldermen of the City are invited to attend a reception and sports meet to be staged by the regiment at Fort Macleay on Wednesday, from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Elects Jury Trial—Appearing on election before Judge Lampman in the County (criminal) Court yesterday afternoon at 2:30, John Ker-shaw charged the theft of $70 in cash and $37.45 in cheques, the property of the Sisters of St. Ann, elected trial by judge and jury. Mr. Ker-shaw appeared for the Crown. Trial of the accused take place at the present assizes.

Engineer to Estimate—In a request from the City Police Commission, Mr. F. M. Preston, City Engineer, is requested to furnish an estimate of what it would cost to remove two feet each from the north and south sidewalks on Fort Street, between Douglas and Wharf Streets, in line with the suggestion of the Commission that the additional four feet which would be added to the roadway would be a great benefit to traffic in that area.

Studying Trade—Mr. Edwin T. Dordick, C.I.E., chairman of Joseph Travers & Sons, of London, wholesale produce merchants, is in the city on a tour for the purpose of investigating the opportunities for developing trade in apples and other fruits from Canada and the United States. There is a steadily increasing demand, he says, in London for British Columbia apples. He had, before coming here, visited Virginia, California and the fruit sections of Washington.

Hearing Resumes—Hearing in the action of Mrs. Alice M. Mallek against Pemberton & Son, Mr. R. S. Mabey and Mr. R. H. Edgell, resumed before Judge Lampman in County Court yesterday, on a reference on points left open for argument at the original trial. Plaintiff sued for the return of sums said to have been paid for investment in the Clinton Gold Mines, Limited. Mr. H. A. Maclean, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. F. W. Maunsell for the defendant, Mr. Mabey.

Will Make Tour—Hon. H. H. Stevens, of Vancouver, will commence early in July, make a speaking tour in the interests of the Canadian Commercial Union, commencing at Prince Rupert, and proceeding as far as Winnipeg. This week in company with Mr. H. D. Twigg, M.P., of this city, he is carrying on a campaign embracing Merritt, Armstrong, and various points in the riding of East Kootenay in the interests of Mr. D. McLean, of Fernie, the Conservative candidate for the riding.

Rush Work at Willows—Work is proceeding at the Willows on the installation of a new grandstand and race track by the Colwood Park Association, following the signing of the agreement in respect to the extension of the Willows race lease by all parties last week. The plans and specifications supplied by the racing association have been formally approved by the City Engineer and the City Building Inspector, and work is being pushed on the renovations at the grounds, in order to permit of racing this year.

Calling for Bids—The city is calling for bids on a refunding issue of $187,000 in serial debentures to bear interest at the rate of five per cent. The money will be used to retire treasury certificates issued some years ago when the market was not ripe for bond issues, and the change will mean a considerable saving to the city in interest payments. The serials will mature at different dates up to 1970. Bids on the issue are returnable at the City Hall up to 2 p.m. on Monday. It is stated by Mr. D. A. MacDonald, City Comptroller.

War on Grasshoppers—For the purpose of waging war upon the grasshopper pest, the Nicola grasshopper control area has been created under the provisions of the act passed last session. The area takes in some 388,162 acres. The members of the commission which has the carrying out of the provisions of the act consist of Messrs. Francis B. Ward, Lawrence Gulchou, William Cooper and William Lauder, all of Nicola, who were nominated by the petitioners for the creation of the area, and Mr. George W. Challenger, of Kamloops, nominated by the Minister of Agriculture.

Dalhousie Has Been Driving New Tunnel Down Hill

Since getting control of the Tide-water property on Alice Arm the Dalhousie Mining Company has been driving a new tunnel a hundred feet lower down the hill to cross the veins already exposed in the old tunnel. This can be taken as definite proof that there is a good body of ore available for the mill, which is intended to be erected. At the present moment the drifting along one of the veins just exposed, which is a good indication that a higher grade of ore is in sight.

YOUNG LOGGER FATALLY HURT

Clifford Charters Caught Between Logs and Instantly Killed at Point No Point

IS FOUND BY HIS BROTHER

(Canadian Press)

SOOKE, June 17 (By District Correspondent).—Pained united with tragedy today when the body of Clifford Charters was found by his brother, William Charters, yard engineer in the employ of the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company at the camp at Point No Point.

Clifford Charters, who was about twenty-two years of age, met his death when he was caught between two logs, and, although no one saw the accident, death is believed to have been instantaneous.

Charters was employed as a hook tender, and only a few minutes before he had given the signal to go ahead slowly. This order had been relayed along, and a momentary hush occurred as the signal to clear was awaited. Failing a response, the engineer became anxious, and sensed an accident. William Charters, Ronald McRae, fireman and Louis Tuttle, signaller, then made their way to where Clifford Charters was working. On their arrival they found him pinned between two logs, with his neck broken.

Headquarters of the Provincial Police was notified of the accident, and Constables H. B. Hughes and D. O. Tweedhope proceeded to the scene. After investigating the circumstances surrounding the accident, they gave instructions for the removal of the body to Sands Funeral Parlor. An inquest will be held.

Dalhousie Has Been Driving New Tunnel Down Hill

Since getting control of the Tide-water property on Alice Arm the Dalhousie Mining Company has been driving a new tunnel a hundred feet lower down the hill to cross the veins already exposed in the old tunnel. This can be taken as definite proof that there is a good body of ore available for the mill, which is intended to be erected. At the present moment the drifting along one of the veins just exposed, which is a good indication that a higher grade of ore is in sight.

Japanese Ambassador Examines Aspects of B.C. Fishing Industry

VANCOUVER, June 17.—Hon. Iyemasa Tokugawa, Japan's Minister to Canada, who is on a visit here, spent this morning in Stevenson examining aspects of the fishing industry there.

This afternoon he spoke before the Women's Canadian Club and this evening he will attend a reception given by the Japanese Consul in the Hotel Vancouver.

Tomorrow evening at 7:45 Mr. Tokugawa will be entertained at dinner at "Edgewood," the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Cromie.

He will then take the night boat to Victoria, where he will meet, next Saturday, his father, Prince Iyasa Tokugawa, coming to Canada on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia.

TO TAKE VOTE ON COMPULSORY POOL PROJECT

(Canadian Press)

REGINA, Sask., June 16.—Saskatchewan wheat pool is closer today to the compulsory wheat pool plan of marketing products than at any time in its brief history. Not later than August 1, pool members are to ballot on the 100 per cent pool idea, under which all Saskatchewan's grain would be marketed through the pool. If the majority favors the system, the pool will ask the Government for necessary legislation.

Decision to ballot among the Saskatchewan pool's contract-signers—some 85,000 farmers—was made at the semi-annual meeting of pool delegates. It marks a definite step toward the compulsory pool, for at no previous time has the Saskatchewan pool been so definitely committed to action. A majority vote of pool farmers will be looked on as a mandate to petition the Government for 100 per cent pool legislation.

The proposed grain-marketing act, even before the law by the Government, would become operative only after a referendum of all grain producers in the province—pool and non-pool farmers alike. Two-thirds of the vote is required for the act to be in force. It is provided, must be in favor of enactment of the provided legislation before it is placed in operation. The step is looked on as the most difficult in front of the compulsory pool.

Under the present plans, the proposed grain marketing act would bring into effect a grower-controlled pool, handling all the grain grown in Canada's greatest grain province. The act would provide for the so-called legislative pool existing for five years. At this time, petition of a certain number of growers could bring about another referendum on the question. If continuance of the legislative pool were not supported, the legislation would continue one year after the vote to rescind.

Archie Compston Heads List in Qualifying Round of British Open Golf

Giant English Pro Heads Field With Fine Total of 141

Shoots 70 and 71—Henry Cotton Next in Line With 143—W. T. Twine Third With 144—Tolley, Jones and Moe Well Up

HOYLAKES, England, June 17.—Archie Compston, giant golfer from the English Midlands, with medal rounds of 70-71-141, led the qualifying round for the British Open, with Bobby Jones and seven other Americans trailing him.

All the serious contenders from the United States, Leo Diegel, Horton and MacDonald Smith, professionals, and Jones, George von Elm, Don Moe and F. C. Stevens, Jr., the amateurs, were tonight in the select company of 112 who comprised the 100 lowest scores and lies for the hundredth place.

Others of the 250 odd who started yesterday are free to go home, with their alibis while the rest fight the real championship battle, seventy-two holes of medal play, during the coming three days.

BRITISHERS IN FRONT
Compston not only led the field, but Henry Cotton, young British pro, was second with 143, and W. T. Twine, former Kent professional champion and Monday's leader, stood third at 144. With the first three places occupied by Britons there was a tremor of rising hopes that after all there was a chance to regain the Old Country's long lost open title which has gone across the Atlantic in eight of the last nine years.

Diegel tied with Percy Allis, British professional resident in Berlin, at 145, to lead the American group, while George von Elm tied with Cyril Tolley with 147 to lead the amateurs among the qualifiers. Bobby Jones was tied with all others for twentieth place. He was not a golfing machine today as he scaled the heights of Wallasey and finally checked in with a 77, which he considered about the worst he had played in Britain. They made him a life honorary member of the club when he finished, but he did not make a speech about how he loves the Wallasey fairways.

CHURCH TAKES FIRE
Other disasters occurred at Wallasey. Diegel blew up after a great start which threatened Compston's lead and wound up with 75 when he seemed likely to score 70, and then a church near the clubhouse caught fire and golf fans and caddies fled for their lives.

There were few real upsets in the qualifying round. Arthur G. Havers, the 1923 champion, failed with a 150, and three of the oldsters, who nowadays play more for fun than for the title, were eliminated, Harry Vardon 160, Alex. Herd 163 and James Braid 173.

MacDonald Smith had a 71 at all the way around, finally taking 80. Horton Smith played sound golf all the way, scoring 76, the same as returned by George von Elm.

Weather conditions continued ideal, and if similar weather prevails for the next three days the qualifying score will be many strokes under the 301 open championship record for the course.

“Y” WILL MEET JOKERS TONIGHT
Softball Teams to Clash at Work Point Barracks for First Half Honors of Westholme League

Y.M.C.A. and Jokers will meet this evening at Work Point Barracks at 8:45 o'clock to decide the first half honors of the Westholme Softball League. With the title at stake the teams will march out their strongest squads with hopes of coming through to victory.

Bert Acres will go to the hillcock for the “Y,” while Hardy will be on the receiving end. Acres is rated as one of the best pitchers in the city and has been a tower of strength to his team all season. The Jokers' famous battery of Lloyd Jones and Doug Banks will do the heavy work. Len Wooster and Jack Pascoe will call the balls and strikes.

THREE WASHINGTON CREWS VICTORIOUS OVER WISCONSIN
MADISON, Wis., June 17.—The University of Washington's over-whelmed Wisconsin here today by sending three shell crews to victory over the two-mile Lake Monona.

The Huskies' varsity shell, Pay-streak, paid well, running well ahead of the Badgers, to clear the finish flag in 10:14, the fastest time ever made here in a two-mile race. By their record-breaking time, Washington was looked upon as a heavy favorite to win the four-mile Pouhkeepke classic June 28.

WESTHOLME SOFTBALL
Results of games played in the Westholme Softball League Monday night are as follows:
Y.M.C.A. 10; Colwood Wood, 5
Jokers, 19; Colonist, 5.

Japan Reaches Semi-Finals in European Zone
PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, June 17.—Japan clinched its Davis Cup tennis series with Czechoslovakia today when Takekichi Harada defeated Jan Koseluh, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. This gave the Japanese the necessary three victories and carried them into the European zone, from where they will oppose the Italians for the right to play the Americans in the interzone final.

WELTER CHAMPION SCORES KNOCKOUT OVER JOE CORDOSA
LOS ANGELES, June 17.—Jack Thompson, welterweight champion, knocked out Joe Cordosa, local boxer, in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight. Ringsiders gave Cordosa the first round, but admitted Thompson was stalling. The second was even. The third had gone one minute,

Rocky Brooks Loses
TACOMA, June 17.—Ted Thye, of Portland, defeated Bill Montana, wrestling movie star, here tonight, two falls out of three, in the main wrestling bout. Thye took the first fall with a series of flying wristlocks, and Montana the second with a series of headlocks. Thye won the deciding fall with a flying scissors hold. They are light heavyweights. The opener went to Walter Logan, of Omaha. He threw Rocky Brooks, of Victoria, B.C.

WOMEN'S SOFTBALL
Games scheduled in the Women's Softball League for this evening are as follows:
Harmony vs. Axioms, upper grounds Central Park. Umpire Barney Barneswell.
Standard vs. Laundry, 6:30. Umpire Stan Quinlan.
Lucky Strikers, lower grounds, Central Park. Umpire Tommy Drysdale and Fred Henley.
Both games to start at 6:30 o'clock.

Davies Gains K.O. Over Joe Rivers In Spokane Ring

ALBIE Davies, local lightweight, increased his stock in Pacific Northwest fight circles 100 per cent last night, in the main event at the opening of the new Dikeman Outdoor Arena, at Spokane, when he knocked out Mexican Joe Rivers, of Los Angeles, in the second round of a six-round bout. Rivers substituted for Dixie La Hood, of Butte, Montana, when the latter backed out of the mix due to the Victorians' weight advantage, which was only two pounds.

BOB KRUSE TO GRAPPLE ZIKOV HERE SATURDAY

Portland Wrestler Will Meet “Russian Lion,” of Chicago, in Main Event at Tillicum Club

VANCE AND BROOKS WILL CLASH AGAIN

Bob Kruse, Portland grappler, who pinned the much-touted Dr. Karl Sarpolice, Cleveland physician, to the mat twice in five rounds in a local gymnasium, will appear here Saturday at the Tillicum Club, in the main event with Martin Zikov, the “Russian Lion,” of Chicago, as his opponent.

Zikov took his defeat at the hands of Kruse in Vancouver on June 5 to heart, claiming that the officials in charge gave him a raw deal, and will be out to gain revenge over the Rose City wrestler before the local followers of the racket.

In the semi-wind-up, Farmer Vance, of Portland, will clash with Rocky Brooks, of Victoria. Both these boys have been after one another's scalps for the past two months. They have met twice and each time the referee has been unable to give a decision. In order that the dispute may be settled once and for all, Promoter Richardson signed the grapplers for a one hour match, with no rest. The grappler obtaining the first fall will be awarded the decision.

In the curtain raiser, Tim Gurney, of Salt Spring Island, will face Abie the Jew, a promising local youngster. Both boys are good mixers.

Promoter Richardson is throwing a party for the fair sex Saturday for he is letting the first hundred in free if accompanied by an escort who has purchased a reserved seat ticket. Tickets are on sale at The Bull, Two Jacks, Empire Cigar Stand and Richardson's News Stand.

Equals Course Record in P.N.W. Meet
Seventeen handicap and two open matches were carried out yesterday in the third day of play for the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club championship at the Willows. Another day of ideal weather greeted the exponents, and some fine displays were witnessed in the various games.

Eric McCallum advanced to the third round by defeating R. A. Phillips (plus 15), 6-3, 6-2, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3.

Mrs. J. C. I. Edwards, one of the favorites for the women's crown, left vacant by the departure of Marjorie MacFarlane to New Zealand, chalked up her second straight victory by defeating Mrs. Ismay in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3.

Play in the various sections of the handicap meet was exceptionally good, several of the matches going as far as four sets before the winners were declared. Officials in charge will have a busy time today as twenty-six matches are on the schedule.

The executive committee of the club wishes to remind the competitors that they must be ready to play when scheduled, or they will be forced to default their games. This regulation will be rigidly enforced.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
Doubling the Size of the Altar to Apollo—According to Philoponus the Athenians were suffering from a severe plague of typhoid fever in 430 B.C., and were told by the oracle of Delos that Apollo required an altar in the form of a cube twice the size of the one existing. A new one was therefore constructed having each edge twice the size of the old one, but the plague was not abated. Suspecting some mystery they applied to Hippocrates of Chios, who finally succeeded in reducing the problem to the determination of two mean proportionals: $x^2 = yz$; hence $x^2 = yz$ and $y^2 = 2xz$. This is the equation of two parabolas, and is equivalent to solving by means of conics. This problem, which is known as the Delian, is of great cubic form 2n is inapplicable.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
Doubling the Size of the Altar to Apollo—According to Philoponus the Athenians were suffering from a severe plague of typhoid fever in 430 B.C., and were told by the oracle of Delos that Apollo required an altar in the form of a cube twice the size of the one existing. A new one was therefore constructed having each edge twice the size of the old one, but the plague was not abated. Suspecting some mystery they applied to Hippocrates of Chios, who finally succeeded in reducing the problem to the determination of two mean proportionals: $x^2 = yz$; hence $x^2 = yz$ and $y^2 = 2xz$. This is the equation of two parabolas, and is equivalent to solving by means of conics. This problem, which is known as the Delian, is of great cubic form 2n is inapplicable.

ENGLAND WINS FIRST CRICKET TEST MATCH

Defeat Australia By 93 Runs After Thrilling Struggle

Bradman Makes Great Stand for Aussies in Scoring 131—Last Four Antipodean Wickets Fall Quickly for 19 Runs

(Canadian Press.)
NOTTINGHAM, England, June 17.—England triumphed today in the first cricket test match with Australia at Trent Bridge by 93 runs, after a day's play which left the issue in doubt until tea time. At that interval Australia required 112 runs and had four wickets in hand. The English players twisted the kangaroo's tail in the final hour of the match with such vigor that the Antipodeans did not make the resistance expected. Aggregate scores were: England, 572; Australia, 479. The Australian innings today yielded 335 runs, which was a big improvement on their first effort of 144.

The final day of the match was crowded with dramatic incidents, the chief of which was the bomb-shell dropped into the English camp this morning which robbed them of the barb of the spear of their attack. Harold Larwood, the fast bowler, was also an absentee. The twelfth man, Prince Duleep Singh, was called in to field, while J. Copley, a young player on the second eleven of the Nottingham team, won the most envied chance to play for England simply because no one else was available. Last night it looked as if the English net had surrounded Australia, but before lunch today it became clear that the Aussies were going to make a mighty bid for freedom. W. H. Ponsford and Don Bradman gave a great display of stonewalling and while the former could not keep it up, the latter played a brilliant innings of 131 runs, the highest individual score ever made in the face of defeat by an Australian against England.

CROWD CHEERS BRADMAN
Bradman at the interval had made 88, the highest individual innings of the match. He sent up the 100 directly after the resumption of the match by hitting a two to leg off Tate's third ball. M. McCabe hit Hammond, who was bowling with the new ball, to the boundary. Then Bradman, who hitherto had been most deliberate, brought the score to 99. His previous five runs had taken him twenty-five minutes to make. With a cut past Chapman off Hammond, Bradman completed his third century in test match cricket. It took him three hours and thirty-five minutes. He was warmly cheered.

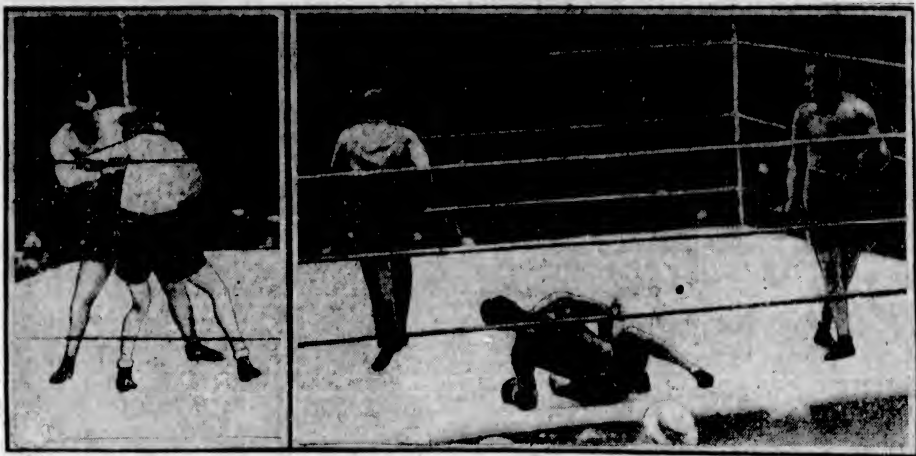

McCabe, after driving Hammond to the boundary, failed to get over a drive off Tate and was brilliantly caught by the substitute, Copley, the fourth wicket fell at 228. V. V. Richardson only made two runs in thirty minutes, but Bradman was playing in brilliant style. He got boundaries both to the off and leg, and also by a straight drive to the ropes. He escaped when Tyldesley and Duckworth failed to intercept a high one on the leg side. Hammond relieved Tate at 290 and Bradman hit him for two fours. After three hours and twenty minutes of courageous and deliberate batting his fighting innings came to a close amidst a scene of tremendous enthusiasm, the ground echoing with cheers. He lifted his bat and did not try to hit a ball from Robinson, which was pitched well outside the off stump. It broke in and took out Bradman's off stump, much to his astonishment. Bradman hit ten fours.

Bradman scored 131 and the fifth wicket fell at 267. McCabe scored 88, which was to prove the second highest score for the visitors. Defeat began to loom over Australia after Bradman's departure. Richardson and Fairfax took up the batting. Richardson stepped into a slightly breaking ball of Tyldesley and was out leg before wicket. Oldfield replaced Richardson. The two played together until tea time, the Australian score standing at 316 for six wickets at the time. They were 112 runs behind.

LIGHTNING FINISH
It was all over soon after the interval. Tate got Fairfax, caught in the slips by Robinson, while Oldfield went out on a catch by Hammond off Tyldesley's bowling. Hammond made a brilliant catch to dismiss Clarence Grimmett, off Tyldesley's bowling, and T. Hornbrook was caught at the wicket off Robinson's bowling. It was a lightning finish. There was only twenty-five minutes left to play. The last four wickets had produced only nineteen runs.

Intercity Cricket Fixture Arranged For Dominion Day

ARRANGEMENTS were completed last night at a special meeting of the Victoria and District League to choose an all-star team from the local loop to oppose a picked eleven from the Vancouver Cricket League here on Dominion Day. Fourteen players were selected by the officials and the definite line-up will be named later during the week. Through the courtesy of Jerry Boulton, the match will be played at the University School grounds. In order to assure the visitors a good time the league appointed reception, grounds and transportation committees.

P. WANER MOVES UP IN BIG SIX

Pirate Outfielder Continues Hard Hitting—Rush Loses Ground

Paul Waner continued his powerful driving offensive against rival pitching yesterday to move up into third place in baseball's Big Six. The Pirate outfielder collected three hits in three times at bat against Phillies, boosting his average to .398. Waner was the only one of the six to gain ground. Klein, Hodapp and Ruth losing points while Mickey Cochran and Frank Hogan were idle. Klein hit in his twenty-sixth consecutive game, but failed to improve his batting average. Hogan is slugging the ball at .410, while one below Waner trails Cochran in fourth position. Hodapp slipped two percentage points and is hitting .395. The Babe got only one hit in the Yankees' one-sided victory over the Indians.

Wins Auto Race

LONDON, June 17.—Setting an average pace of 71.08 miles an hour, H. O. Eyrill-Smith yesterday won the Junior Tourist Trophy road race under auspices of the Royal Automobile Club. He drove a Rudge-Whitworth motor car over a 246-mile course. Forty-three drivers competed.

Sons Wins at Duncan

DUNCAN, June 17.—Duncan pounded two Sons of Canada pitchers for sixteen hits, but lost a ball game by 20 to 9, in a slugging contest at Evans' Park here, Sunday. Seven errors by the home team contributed largely to the rout. The Sons got fourteen hits but only made two errors.

SONS OF CANADA TO MEET EAGLES

Brousseau to Go to Mound for Tribe Against Canadians Tonight in Senior League Fixture

Bill Brousseau, Eagles' star pitcher, who turned back the Jokers, last year's champions, at the Royal Athletic Park last week, will go to the mound tonight in an effort to check the pennant rush of Jack Curtis' Sons of Canada. Brousseau turned in a great performance against the Jokers, and his offerings should prove puzzling to the Canadians' sluggers.

Ray Parfitt will be expected to go to the mound for the Sons. The game will get under way at 6:15 o'clock.

ESQUIMALT XI TO MEET ST. SAVIOURS

Local Eleven Will Battle Strong Mainland Team Saturday at Vancouver

VANCOUVER, June 17.—Tommy Christie has arranged the semi-final of the Dominion football series, which will take the form of a double bill at Con Jons Park Saturday afternoon.

At 2:30 St. Savours meet Esquimalt and at 4:15 Westminster Royals will engage the frisky young Canadians eleven.

The winners to emerge from these conflicts will meet in the provincial finals on the afternoon of June 28. Then the Alberta winners will play in Vancouver and the winning eleven will go East for the semi-finals and finals.

Esquimalt's win over Kerrisdale was not expected, but the Islanders proved fine foragers and deserved the victory. They will hardly be rated favorites to beat St. Savours, however.

His previous five runs had taken him twenty-five minutes to make. With a cut past Chapman off Hammond, Bradman completed his third century in test match cricket. It took him three hours and thirty-five minutes. He was warmly cheered.

McCabe, after driving Hammond to the boundary, failed to get over a drive off Tate and was brilliantly caught by the substitute Copley, the fourth wicket fell at 229. W. Y. Richardson only made two runs in thirty minutes, but Bradman was playing in brilliant style. He got boundaries both to the off and leg, and also by a straight drive to the ropes. He escaped when Tyldesley and Duckworth failed to intercept a high one on the leg side. Hammond relieved Tate at 250 and Bradman hit him for two fours. After three hours and twenty minutes of courageous and deliberate batting his fighting innings came to a close amidst a scene of tremendous enthusiasm, the ground echoing with cheers. He lifted his bat and did not try to lay a ball from Robins, which was pitched well outside the off stump. It broke in and took out his astonishment. Bradman hit ten fours.

Bradman scored 131 and the fifth wicket fell at 267. McCabe scored 49, which was to prove the second highest score for the visitors. Defeat began to loom over Australia after Bradman's departure. Richardson and Fairfax took up the batting. Richardson stepped into a slightly breaking ball of Tyldesley and was out leg before wicket. Oldfield replaced Richardson. The two played together until tea time, the Australian score standing at 316 for 112 wickets at the time. They were 112 runs behind.

LIGHTNING FINISH
It was all over soon after the interval. Tate got Fairfax caught in the slips by Robins, while Oldfield went out on a catch by Hammond off Tyldesley's bowling. Hammond made a brilliant catch to dismiss Clarence Grimmett, off Tyldesley's bowling, and T. Hornbrook was caught at the wicket off Robins' bowling. It was a lightning finish. There was only twenty-five minutes left to play. The last four wickets had produced only nineteen runs.

Gehrig's Eighteenth Homer Helps New York Slaughter Cleveland—Browns Wallop Senators—Phillies Beat Pirates in Tenth

AMERICAN LEAGUE

CLEVELAND, June 17.—The New York Yankees unleashed a powerful offensive today to defeat the Cleveland Indians, 17 to 2. Lou Gehrig hit his eighteenth home run as a part of the Yankees' 21 hits off four Indian pitchers. The victory put the Yanks in second berth.

Batteries—Sherid and Dickey; Brown, Jablonowski, Holloway, Giallato and Myatt.
Browns Pound Senators
ST. LOUIS, June 17.—The St. Louis Browns piled up a big lead to take the last game of the series with Washington here today, 12 to 9. A five-run rally by the Senators in the ninth was three runs short.

Red Sox Hit Hard
CHICAGO, June 17.—The Boston Red Sox hammered three White Sox pitchers for 15 hits today to win the final game of the series, 8 to 5. Walsh, McKain and Caraway worked for the Sox, while Milton Gaston pitched the whole game for Boston.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
BOSTON, June 17.—The Braves took a double-header victory from the Cincinnati Reds here today, 4 to 4 and 10 to 5. The tribe made 16 hits in the second game.

First game—R. H. E. Cincinnati 4 11 0 Boston 5 10 2
Batteries—May and Sukeforth; Smith, Brandt, Campbell and Spohrer.
O'Don's Single Wins
PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—Lefty gave the Phillies a 5 to 4 decision over the Pirates today. Nichols went the route for the Phillies, while French did the same for the Pirates.

COAST LEAGUE
SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—Los Angeles opened the second week of its home series with a 9 to 1 win over San Francisco here today. The Angels pounded two Seal pitchers for 16 hits. A four-run rally in the seventh when Moore hit a home run with two men on put the game on ice.

Los Angeles—R. H. E. Los Angeles 9 15 2 San Francisco 1 5 2
Batteries—Bacht and Hanna; Turpin, Perry and Penesky.

A Timely Homer

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—The same Hensel Hulvey, who was not considered worthy of the trip to San Francisco last week, stepped to the mound for the Stars today and held the Missions to five hits for a 4 to 3 victory in the series opener.

Cleo Carlyle connected strategically for a home run with the bases saturated in the first inning for all of Hollywood's runs. R. H. E. Missions 3 5 0 Hollywood 4 8 1

Intercity Cricket Fixture Arranged For Dominion Day

ARRANGEMENTS were completed last night at a special meeting of the Victoria and District League to choose an all-star team from the local loop to oppose a picked eleven from the Vancouver Cricket League here on Dominion Day. Fourteen players were selected by the officials and the definite line-up will be named later during the week. Through the courtesy of Jerry Boulton, the match will be played at the University School grounds. In order to assure the visitors a good time the league appointed reception, grounds and transportation committees.

P. WANER MOVES UP IN BIG SIX

First Outfielder Continues Hard Hitting—Ruth Loses Ground

Paul Waner continued his powerful driving offensive against rival pitching yesterday to move up into third place in baseball's Big Six. The Pirate outfielder collected two hits in three times at bat against Phillies, boosting his average to .388. Waner was the only one of the six to gain ground, Klein, Hodapp and Ruth losing points while Mickey Cochran and Frank Hogan were idle. Klein hit in his twenty-sixth consecutive game, but one single in four times at bat failed to improve his batting average. Hogan is slugging the ball at .410, while below Waner trails Cochran in fourth position. Hodapp slipped two percentage points and is hitting .395. The Babe got only one hit in the Yankees' one-sided victory over the Indians.

Wins Auto Race

LONDON, June 17.—Setting an average pace of 71.08 miles an hour, H. G. Eyrell-Smith yesterday won the Junior Tourist Trophy road race under auspices of the Royal Automobile Club. He drove a Rudge-Whitworth motor car over a 246-mile course. Forty-three drivers competed.

Sons Wins at Duncan
DUNCAN, June 17.—Duncan pounded two Sons of Canada pitchers for sixteen hits, but lost a ball game by 20 to 8, in a slugging contest at Evans' Park here, Sunday. Seven errors by the home team contributed largely to the result. The Sons got fourteen hits but only made two errors.

SONS OF CANADA TO MEET EAGLES

Brousseau to Go to Mound for Tribe Against Canadians Tonight in Senior League Fixture

Bill Brousseau, Eagles' star pitcher, who turned back the Jokers, last year's champions, at the Royal Athletic Park last week, will go to the mound tonight in an effort to check the pennant rush of Jack Curtis' Sons of Canada. Brousseau turned in a great performance against the Jokers, and his offerings should prove puzzling to the Canadians' sluggers.

Ray Parfitt will be expected to go to the mound for the Sons. The game will get under way at 6:15 o'clock.

ESQUIMALT XI TO MEET ST. SAVIOURS

Local Eleven Will Battle Strong Mainland Team Saturday at Vancouver

VANCOUVER, June 17.—Tommy Christie has arranged the semi-final of the Dominion football series, which will take the form of a double bill at Con Jones Park Saturday afternoon.

At 2:30 St. Saviours meet Esquimalt and at 4:15 Westminster Royals will engage the frisky young Caplans eleven.

The winners to emerge from these conflicts will meet in the provincial finals on the afternoon of June 28. Then the Alberta winners will play in Vancouver and the winning eleven will go East for the semi-finals and finals.

Esquimalt's win over Kerrisdale was not expected, but the Islanders proved fine foragers and deserved the victory. They will hardly be rated favorites to beat St. Saviours, however.

At The Playhouses

PLAYHOUSE Charles Morton, who plays the role of "Anatole" in "Cameo Kirby," Fox Movietone romantic musical drama now current at the Playhouse Theatre, literally grew up on the stage. His father and mother were in vaudeville for years, and as soon as Charles was old enough he was added to the company.

CAPITOL Basil Rathbone, famous English stage and screen star, has been both a soldier and a soldier of fortune, but was didn't bring him gold. It remained for the talking picture to do that after he had already made a reputation on the stage here and abroad. Rathbone is featured opposite Dorothy Mackall in First National's "The Flirting Widow," playing at the Capitol Theatre last times today.

COLISEUM Settings, rich beyond THEATRE the dreams of the visionary of their vanguard, have been provided for the talking screen's first original musical romance, "The Love Parade," now showing at the Coliseum Theatre. Victor Schertzinger wrote the ten big hit songs and Ernst Lubitch directed this highly musical and sophisticated comedy.

DOMINION What did the women THEATRE of 1880 do with the contents of their vanity cases? John Boles, who plays the lead in "Song of the West," an all-color singing, talking picture, now at the Dominion Theatre, tried to find out, and gave it up as a problem for most intensive research. There is no provision for vanity makes your damaged old type Gillette Razor a serviceable shaving instrument

THE New Gillette Blade has restored thousands of damaged, old type Gillette Razors to active shaving service.

These veteran razors had become damaged through years of daily use. They were dropped on the floor. The corners of the razor caps and the guard teeth were bent. Poor shaves resulted, for the bent corners forced the blade out of alignment.

The New Gillette Blade remedies this defect

The dented corners of the razor caps and the bent teeth can no longer spoil the shave.

A glance at the illustrations will show you how this sweeping improvement has restored thousands of these discarded razors to useful service.

But of course the New Gillette Blade in a New Gillette Razor is the best shaving combination.

President Park, of Fraser Valley Milk Producers, Says Act Beneficial to Farmers and Dealers

VANCOUVER, June 17.—Claiming that, as a result of the Dairy Products Sales Adjustment Act, dairy farmers of the Fraser Valley have received seven to eight cents per pound more for their butterfat than would otherwise have been the case, President W. J. Park, of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, made a spirited defence of that legislation at the annual picnic and field day of the British Columbia Guernsey Breeders' Association, held at Riverdale Farm, Dr. Robert Croxby's beautiful place on Lulu Island.

BRITANNIA BRANCH PICNIC ARRANGED
Annual Event Will Be Held at Willows Beach on July 1—Sports Programme

Arrangements for the fourth annual picnic of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.L., which will be held at the Willows Beach on July 1, are now well in hand. An attractive sports programme, with special attention being given to the children of members of the branch, will be carried out in the afternoon. Various forms of amusement will also be provided for the children.

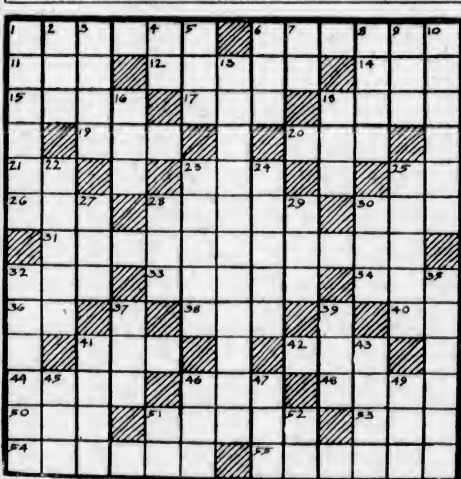

Further details will be made public in a few days, following final arrangements by the ways and means committee. As on previous occasions, it is expected that a large number of members and their friends will be present at the annual outing. Reddy Fox Smells Mouse
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

To know what others do is wise; 'Twill sometimes help to win the prize.

—Reddy Fox

Reddy Fox has keen eyes. Also Reddy had his share of curiosity. It just happened that Reddy had not been at home in the old pasture, taking his morning nap as usual, when Nanny Meadow Mouse was carried away in the old tin can by Farmer Brown's Boy. Reddy had been on his way home when he saw Farmer Brown's Boy crossing the Green Meadows. Reddy had sat down to watch. He had not seen where he could see, but he was sure that he would see Farmer Brown's Boy. He had followed him across the Green Meadows until he came to the bushes on the edge of the Green Meadows. Then Farmer Brown's Boy had tossed that thing he was carrying and gone on his way.

Reddy Fox cocked his head on one side. "I wonder," thought he, "what Farmer Brown's Boy threw over the fence? I wonder where Farmer Brown's Boy is going. It is well to know what one's neighbors are doing. Yes, sir, it is well to know what one's neighbors are doing. Especially any of those two-legged creatures who happen to be about. I am not afraid of Farmer Brown's Boy, but it does no harm to know all I possibly can about him."

So as soon as Farmer Brown's Boy was out of sight, Reddy trotted across the Green Meadows straight to the spot where Farmer Brown's Boy had picked up that old can. He began to investigate at once. Of course, you know how he did that. He did it by using his eyes and his nose—especially his nose. Reddy can always trust his nose.

"Well, I don't know what it was he picked up," said Reddy to himself, "but whatever it was, it had been here for a long time. The grass is all dead where it lay. Probably it wouldn't interest me anyway. Ha, I smell a Mouse! There has been a Mouse around here and not very long ago at that. That being the case, that Meadow Mouse must still be somewhere around here. I will see just what my nose is good for. Nose, do your duty. So Reddy put his little black nose to the ground and it began to pick up the scent of Nanny Meadow Mouse. The scent was faint. Sometimes it disappeared altogether and then Reddy would have to go back and try another private little path with the same result. It was tantalizing! All around that spot was the smell of Mouse, yet it didn't lead him anywhere.

"A Mouse hasn't wings," said Reddy to himself, "so it cannot fly away. A Mouse cannot travel a very long distance in a short time. So the Mouse that was here must still be here, or at least somewhere near here."

Once more Reddy put that little black nose to the ground. He began working in circles. He was trying to find the scent of that Mouse if the Mouse had gone away. He didn't have to make a very big circle to discover that there was no scent of Meadow Mouse at all. Reddy sat down to think this over. "If that Mouse isn't somewhere within this circle," said Reddy to himself, "it must be that White-tail the Marsh Hawk, or some other member of his family, has caught that Mouse and carried it away. I'll have one more good search."

"A Mouse hasn't wings," said Reddy to himself

So Reddy made another thorough search. It was thorough, for Reddy believes in being thorough. He was sure that there was not one inch of ground within that circle that he had not examined. Then he sighed. "Somebody else got that Mouse," said he. "It certainly is hard luck to smell Mouse and not be able to find one. No! I'll go see what Farmer Brown's Boy threw over those bushes."

The next story: "Reddy Finds His Mouse."

MR. LLOYD GEORGE OFFERS SUPPORT

Says Liberals Willing to Co-operate With British Labor Government in Solving Unemployment

LONDON, June 17.—Mr. David Lloyd George, head of the Liberal party, has offered the Labor Government of Ramsay MacDonald complete Liberal support "to secure a sound and dependable majority for emergency measures to wage war on unemployment."

What is needed is an emergency session when the emergency procedure to pass emergency measures to deal with an unquestionable emergency in trade and unemployment.

It might take half a dozen first class pieces of legislation, and the whole of the session should be devoted to it. I would take drastic emergency powers just as we did in war.

MAKE NO CONDITIONS

The Liberal leader said that he was consulting friends about proposals to be submitted to the Government. He added that he would make no conditions for Liberal support while the situation is so serious, but would trust to Labor's sense of justice to redress the grievances under which "millions of Liberal electors are suffering," for proportional representation, which would increase their representation in the House of Commons many fold, but which they thus far have sought in vain. The Daily Herald treats the offer very coldly and emphasizes the fact that the Liberal-Labor coalition is impossible.

The Liberals hold the balance of power in the British House, and the life of the MacDonald ministry depends in large measure upon their support against the common enemy, the Conservative party.

Brighter Prospects for Russian Crops Forecast

MOSCOW, June 17.—Investia, official newspaper of the Soviet Government, today forecasts brighter prospects for Russian crops. The newspaper says the preliminary results of spring planting show the area under cultivation considerably larger than last year. The bulk of grain will come from collective farms.

State farms will yield four times more grain than last year, or one-half of all the grain collectable this year under the Government's plan. A business man says that the girl of today is wrapped up in her work. She needs something to keep her warm.

BROADCASTING NOTE ORIGINAL

NOVEL ALL-STAR RADIO PROGRAMME DELIGHTS CONCERT AUDIENCE

Popular Artists Take Part in Entertainment for Benefit of Miss Irene Bick

Victoria's first "all-star radio programme" broadcast from "Station B-1-C-K," held Monday evening at the Shrine Hall, will long be remembered in the musical history of the city, and a capacity house greeted each artist with confused rounds of applause. The concert had been arranged by a number of fellow-artists and friends of Miss Irene Bick, popular young violinist, who has so often delighted Victoria audiences, and who has been confronted with heavy expenses due to her recent serious illness. As a result of the great generosity of friends, the entire proceeds of last night's concert will go to Miss Bick, whose thanks were expressed to the audience by Mr. W. B. Langdon during a brief intermission.

Never before have radio "fans" had the pleasure of simultaneously seeing and hearing their favorite soloists, and this was made possible last night by a most ingenious arrangement. Mr. R. R. Webb, as station announcer, who filled his part to perfection, had over the new station, whose initials spelled Miss Bick's name. As the lights were turned on, the performers were seen through a fine gauze curtain, which gave a unique touch to the very original stage setting. Mrs. L. A. Genge and Mr. Stewart C. Clark were responsible for the artistic settings. The first number was a piano solo by Miss Dorothy Morton, who played in her usual brilliant style "Dance Negre," followed by "Romance."

DELIGHTFUL SOLOS
Mr. Frank Tupman, announced from Tillicum Road "Station," sang two delightful solos, "A Dream in the Twilight" and "O Mistress Mine." Miss Ora Pearson, announced from "Station G-O-L-F," Colwood, gave two recitations, "The Emir's Game of Chess," a dramatic selection, followed by an amusing number in which she gave some original ideas on the subject of ducks. From Mills College, California, Miss Adele Bucklin, talented young violinist, played "The Old Refrain" and "Allegro," receiving great applause.

Dr. Harry Johns, whose singing was announced to be "painless entertainment," delighted the audience with two numbers, "I Will Not Grieve" and "My Love Abode."

Marguerite Devlin, announced a Dublin "stroll," proved one of the most popular artists of the evening. She played "Improvvisi" and "Waltz," two Chopin numbers, in a finished and brilliant style. It was evident that Victoria audiences had by no means forgotten Phyllis Davis, now Mrs. D'Oyly Carte, who, in a delightful act and singing made her such a favorite some few years ago. The announcement of her appearance from "Station P-H-Y-L-I-S," Vancouver, met with much applause, which was repeated even more emphatically at the conclusion of her three numbers, "I Don't Know," "The Amorous Goldfish" and "Where Is My Meyer?" the last number being repeated as an encore. She had lost none of her vivacity and spontaneous charm as she sang and danced in her inimitable way.

CLEVER PLAYLET

A playlet, "Falsimony," by Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Corby, was an exceptionally clever number.

Comtesse Jean de Suxanet, from Versailles "station," was charming in her three numbers, "Mes Belles Amourettes," "Amiable Flore" and "Per La Gloria." Her old-fashioned costume being delightfully in harmony with the artistic setting. Another outstanding number was Mrs. Charles E. Wilson's "Estalilla," sung with mandolin accompaniment, played by Madame Allfield and her talented pupils. "Cleito Ludia," another Mexican song, was broadcast from a "Panama" station.

Mrs. Styles Sehl, broadcast from an Amsterdam "station, S-E-H-L," sang "Tip-Toe Through the Tulips," with members of the Commodore Broughton Chorus, I.O.D.E., in quaint Dutch costume as the chorus. The refrain was repeated as an encore.

Miss Naomi Taylor was the only solo dancer of the evening, her pas seul winning for her the applause of the audience.

Mrs. D. B. McConnan, as an Indian maid, was announced as singing from a "Nootka station," her numbers being "Indian Love Call" and "By the Waters of Minnetonka."

The final number of the programme, "In the Dark," sung by Mrs. Rochfort, with Mr. Herbert Kent, Mr. Frank Allwood, Mr. Robert Webb and Mr. Stewart Clarke as background, was one of the most popular. Mrs. Rochfort appearing as a small "street urchin," with a great deal of charm.

As accompanists, Mrs. Conyers, Miss Margaret Adam, Miss Eileen Dumbarton and Miss Beatrice Hicks played important parts, which added to the success of the entertainment.

The "broadcasting" apparatus was loaned by Fletcher Bros. and a Steinway concert grand piano was used.

FOUR NOMINATED

GLASGOW, Scotland, June 17.—Nominations for the Shetland Division by-election revealed the candidature of another Scottish Nationalist, several of whom appeared in the general elections without any notable success.

The seat was rendered vacant by the death of Hon. John Wheatley, Labor representative in Parliament since 1922. The candidates are Mr. John McGowan, Labor; Mr. W. B. Templeton, Conservative; Mr. J. M. McNicol, Scottish Nationalist, and Shapurji Saklatvala, former Communist member of Parliament. In the general elections Mr. Wheatley was elected with a majority of 4,724 over a Conservative opponent.

Strange Disappearance Of Trapper Is Solved

THE PAS, Man., June 17.—The mysterious disappearance of Mr. Richard Hansen, popular twenty-four-year-old trapper and woodsman, who came to the Bay country two years ago, is solved today. Misfortune and heroism are blended in the police report, which indicates that Mr. Hansen, accidentally wounded when his gun discharged, put a second bullet through his brain when he realized he could not reach civilization.

The body of Mr. Hansen, who disappeared eight months ago, was discovered by Indians on the lonely shore of Lake Pikitlonel along the Hudson Bay Railway. A gold watch was in the pocket of his jacket and skins of two fall rats in his pack-sack. Head and one arm had been gnawed away by wolves, but identification was certain. Mr. Hansen had resided in Edmonton, Alta., and the Peace River country before coming to Northern Manitoba.

BODY OF SIR HENRY SEGRAVE IS CREMATED

LONDON, June 17.—The body of Sir Henry Segrave, who died of injuries received when his speedboat, Miss England II, was wrecked on the Lake Windermere, today was cremated at Golden's Green. The ceremony was attended by Lady Segrave, Sir Henry's parents and Lord Wakefield.

At the same hour a large crowd assembled in St. Margaret's Church, Westminster, where a memorial service was held for the dead sportsman.

Compston and Cotton Main British Hopes in Open Championship

Pair Are Paying Sound Golf Now, Darwin States—Noted Scribe Says Hoylake Will Present Stiff Test to Heavy Field

By BERNARD DARWIN
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

HOYLAK, Eng. June 17.—"Will Bobby Jones win the British Open too?"

That is the question all my friends have been asking me ever since I got back from St. Andrews, until I have felt inclined to answer them rather snappishly.

In fact, the answer that I make is that I do not know, because I do not know what is going on inside Mr. Jones' mind, but that if he really and truly wants very much to win if I think he will.

After he had won at St. Andrews then must have come, as I fancy, a reaction; he had done the one thing he had set out to do to round off his career, and probably nothing else seemed to matter. Since then, however, he has had some peace and quiet, and that makes such a difference.

He may well be saying to himself now that it would be good fun to win both the amateur and the open in one year—a feat that has only once been accomplished here—by John Ball, just forty years ago. If that fresh ambition awakes in his breast, then what is going to stop him?

Of course, he may not win, but to my mind he has a much better chance of winning the open than he had of winning the amateur, and Hoylake should be just the place for him to do it.

HOYLAK DIFFICULT

St. Andrews, owing to the wind and sun and hard ground, was a short if extremely subtle course. There has been more rain in England than in Scotland, the weather looks unsettled as I write, and unless we have a spell of dry weather I have no reason to think that Hoylake will be burnt hard. If it is not, it is a very long course full of really strong hitters.

At St. Andrews Jack White said: "This man Jones is teaching us something in w—what matches can be won by driving." He meant that Bobby was driving every time to the ideal spot which made the short but extremely difficult second as easy as possible. Anybody could reach the hole, but to get near it was the devil. At Hoylake Bobby's long and unerring tee shots will give him a different kind of advantage; they will make it certain that he will get up in two, where a great many other people cannot. That, at least, is my view.

Hoylake at full stretch and in normal weather conditions is, to my thinking, the fiercest test of golf we possess. It has not all the subtle charm and variety of St. Andrews, but it is a great course, and essentially one for the big battalions.

It is, at first glance, an odd-looking place. A flat expanse intersected by a number of turf walls, locally known as cops, with some sandhills in the distance. It looks very plain sailing, but it is not. The drives must be hit very straight, and there is nearly always trouble on both sides of the course and not only on one side, as at St. Andrews.

PERPETUAL DANGER

There may not be two clearly defined lines of rough, as on an inland course, but there is always something, and especially there is an almost perpetual danger of going out of bounds into some enclosure or other. A friend of mine, who lived there for years, used to boast that there was only one hole on the links where he had not been out of bounds. That was a unique record, but there are certainly numerous opportunities and these are enhanced by the wind, which blows as hard there as anywhere I know.

I wish I could say accurately what the par of the course is, but really, though I know Hoylake intimately, it defies me. There are four short holes, and as to all the others I am not prepared to say that on a dead still day Bobby could not reach any one of them in two shots, but he would have to be hitting with might and main with a brassie to do it. On anything like a windy day there are at least five holes that come into the category of "impossible." Unless the weather is abnormally still, anybody who beats 300 for the four rounds will not be far from the top of the list. If there is a flat calm, I give it up. Some people are so good that they may do anything.

EXCELLENT GREENS

American golfers are brought up to very closely-guarded greens and as at their best, I think, when they have to do much pitching right up to the pin. Well, there is a good deal of pitching—long pitching—to be done at Hoylake; not quite so much as there once was, since a cross-bunker or two have had to give way to the big hitters, but still plenty, and I can think of one or two in particular where the ball must be made to bite and bite hard; and nine players out of ten run over the greens.

I know no course in the world that has a more severe drive. There is a short hole with mounds of traps all around it for the thirteenth, and after that it is the most difficult of the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth are all tremendous two-shooters (in my own humble mind, I think of them as three-shooters), and the last two can be quite long enough.

The seventeenth has got a good road as perilous as that at St. Andrews. No man is safe until he has made that hole, and I shall never forget as long as I live the magnificent long iron shot that Walter Hagen played up to it when he last was there.

The eighteenth has a big, old-fashioned trench of a cross bunker right across in front of the green. It is not as frightening as it used to be—few bunkers are, but it can play tricks with people's nerves still.

TO USE TWO COURSES

The championship begins with two rounds of qualifying play. Then a hundred or so are left to struggle in the real battle over seventy-two holes, eighteen on each of two days, and then when the cumberers of the ground have been eliminated (thirty-six on the last). The qualifying will be done half at Hoylake itself and at Wallacey, another seaside course close by; those who play at Hoylake the first day will play at Wallacey on the second and vice versa. Wallacey is a pleasant course with some formidable and picturesque sandhills, and if not an adequate qualifying test.

I find I have said nothing of our own players, which is rather unpatriotic of me. I should say our two chief hopes are Compston and Cotton, although it is most unlikely that Cotton went down with influenza. However, he has been having a rest in Cornwall and will, I hope, be fit again. He has been in fine form this Spring and beat Horton Smith in a thirty-six hole match the other day 4 and 3, which is good going.

I should like to add Abe Mitchell's name, but as regards the open championship, his career has been so disastrous of late years that he has rather lost faith. As a match player he is magnificent. He has had two fine fights with Diegel, losing one by a putt—a tremendous putt of Diegel's for a two at the eighteenth—and winning the other by 1 and 2. His golf is all there and if he can get a good start and overcome the hoodoo of the championship, he might do it. Still, if I had to bet, Bobby and Horton Smith would be my men.

Helene Madison Breaks Another Swimming Record

SEATTLE, June 17.—In her last appearance here before she enters the national outdoor championship meet at Long Beach, Cal., next month, Helene Madison, Seattle swimmer, lowered the world's 300 meter record for women here tonight, covering the distance in 3 mins. 59.5 secs. The former mark was 4 mins. 8 secs., held by Martha Norrlius, of New York.

She had two fine fights with Diegel, losing one by a putt—a tremendous putt of Diegel's for a two at the eighteenth—and winning the other by 1 and 2. THE DUFF REVIVES A FAMOUS BARD

The sky is blue, the breeze rife. The air with sweetness, all the hills stretch green to June's unclouded sky.

But life is still a care and sigh. A loss in all the pleasant things. The flower that blooms, the bird that sings.

For if the day be cool or hot. My blinkin' head keeps popping up.

I do not care to see the sky. The woodland blooms that linger by. And away trees where song is rife.

Mean almost nothing in my life; I can't afford to waste my hours. In peering at the purple flowers, I'd rather keep my old bean still. And yet I can't—and never will.

The time may come when it may be decided that the only way to stop fiddling is to stop fighting. That is the dead certain, 100 per cent cure.

BOBBY JONES AND HOYLAK

It was at Hoylake, nine years ago, when the Georgia golfer was nineteen, that he made his first British stand, and all in all it was nothing to cheer about.

His start was spectacular. Paired with Chick Evans in the team matches, the two playing alternate shots, stepped out in 33. It was a murder. But deep and dark trouble waited just ahead. Jones got his first match nicely, playing well. He beat Robert Harris, a skidded against a Mr. Hamlet, a thin artisan golfer with a still thinner mustache, where both were close to 90. They halved three holes in 6's. Playing Alon Graham, a brother of the famous John, Jones ordinarily could have started him 3 or 4 up. As it was he was badly beaten by an 83 clip.

British experts shook their heads. "He can't hit his shots like Duncan," they said. "He blows up. It's a pity. He'll probably never get very far." Nine years later Bobby returns to Hoylake with ten national championships chalked up to his credit. There were 1,130 in the titles, three United States open crowns, two British open and one British amateur.

A TRIFLE UNUSUAL

"Max Schmeling," writes H. H. F., "is to be declared heavyweight champion of the world. Would you bet even money on Schmeling against one, Sharkey, two, Stribling; three, Compello?"

The answer is "No." In each instance, Sharkey, Stribling and Compello would all be rated as favorites so far as any general betting was concerned.

NO TIME TO WASTE

Babe Ruth has evidently sensed the fact that there is no time to lose this season when it comes to the home run proposition.

The Babe peeled off his twenty-first home run to start the new week, hearing just behind him the cheering host of beats of Hack Wilson, Gehrig, Berger, Klein and several others. So many are chasing the Babe this Summer that he can't afford to waste time. He now has a great chance to climb into the fifties again and possibly touch the sixty mark, as he usually is a strong finisher. He may need these with him to many strong-armed young men in no pursuit.

Stocks and Commodities Recover Equilibrium in Day's Trading in East

NEW YORK, June 17.—Stocks and commodities recovered their equilibrium today. On the share market prices rallied after the completion of necessities liquidation in the forenoon, while wheat, corn and cotton advanced measurably from Monday's final levels.

However, stocks dipped from the day's highs in the last half-hour and the close was highly irregular, with net changes in the leaders only nominal in either direction.

Domestic copper was cut to 11 3/4 cents a pound, the lowest in sixteen years, although there was no change in the export price. Selling of the copper shares carried Anaconda, American Smelting, Granby, Calumet and Hecla, Cerro de Pasco, Inspiration and Andes to new 1929 minimums on losses of 1 to 5 points.

Fluctuations in numerous prominent stocks were fairly wide. American Telephone advanced to 208 3/4, recovered to 212 and closed unchanged at 209 1/2. American Can's low was 121 1/4, its high 125 and its close 123, for a net gain of 1-2 points. Atchafalaya got down to the new low of 233, snapped back to 213 and finished at 212 1/4, or 5 3/4 higher. General Electric, National American and International Telephone were up about a point net, while Radio, Consolidated Gas and Westinghouse lost one to two.

General Motors, National Biscuit and Standard Oil of New Jersey closed firm. Steel, which had been as high as 162 5/8, closed at 160 3/4, up 2 1/2.

Foreign exchanges were again easy, with most of the leading European rates slightly off.

Today's bond market was the most active in several weeks. Trading was on a broad scale with many inactive issues appearing on the tape, and the total sales reaching a figure unsurpassed since the first week in May.

AT A DULL PACE

VANCOUVER, June 17.—Prices on the local stock market continued to point downward today, with Home Oil showing the way with a loss of 10c at 4.20. Home, together with Calmont and A.P. Consolidated, led the list in point of activity, all three issues absorbing a lot of selling. Calmont was off 6c at 35, while A.P. Con. dropped 6c to 31. There were a few bright spots to today's oil market, however, Eastcrest gaining 2c to 18, and Freehold gaining 3c to 22.

The mines continued at a dull pace. Pend Oreille was off 10c at 1.35, while Big Missouri dropped 4c to 41. George Copper gained 5c at 1.10.

Double Service in Want Ads

You can telephone your answers as well as your classified advertisements to the Colonist. Readers are often interested in Want Advertisements that do not carry the names or addresses of advertisers, but a Colonist number. For the accommodation of those readers who find it inconvenient to write an answer, and to serve the advertiser better, we will now reply to Box Numbers over the telephone.

SOVIET INFLUENCE

TRACED TO LEADER

By CAMILLA LEMERCIER

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily Newspaper Service.)

PARIS, June 17.—Nguyen Thanh

Hoc, leader of the Quoc Dan Dang, or Annamite Nationalist party, was decapitated today at Yen Bay,

Tonking, the last of thirteen rebels sentenced to death by the French courts in Indo-China for their part in the recent uprising. Four other

Annamites had been sentenced to execution in Yen Bay on May 8 for participation in the same disturbances.

Many Annamites have been sent, for life or long terms, to the Annamite prison on the Island of Pulo

Condore.

TRAGIC ATTACK

Today's thirteen executions are the conclusion of a tragic attack on the French in the small town of

Yen Bay on the night of February

9. Two hundred rebels in the disguise of Annamite soldiers suddenly invaded the barracks and deliberately killed all the French officers and native soldiers who tried to resist. One captain, a lieutenant and four noncommissioned officers were severely mutilated and killed under the eyes of their wives and children, and several others were severely wounded.

These scenes of horror lasted all night until French troops were able to counterattack and defeat the rebels with the help of loyal native

Troopers.

PART OF LARGER PLOT

Yen Bay's uprising was part of a plot for a general revolt throughout

Tonking and Annam, which failed on account of immediate action by the French authorities. The fomenting of the coup was Nguyen Thanh

Hoc, who was under the direct influence of the Third Internationale.

Nguyen bravely took his responsibility on himself, and when he was sentenced to death refused to ask for pardon.

JUST LIKE A WOMAN

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

"Excuse me, sir," said the middle-aged man with the determined face, "but I wonder if you remember me? Ten years ago I was down and out. I met you, just as I did now, by chance. I told you my story, and in the generosity of your heart you gave me half a crown. It brought me new hope. I got a job, saved up, emigrated to America, and made a fortune."

"Well, well, well," remarked the elderly benefactor. "And now you have come back to settle in the town which saw the turn of your fortune, eh?"

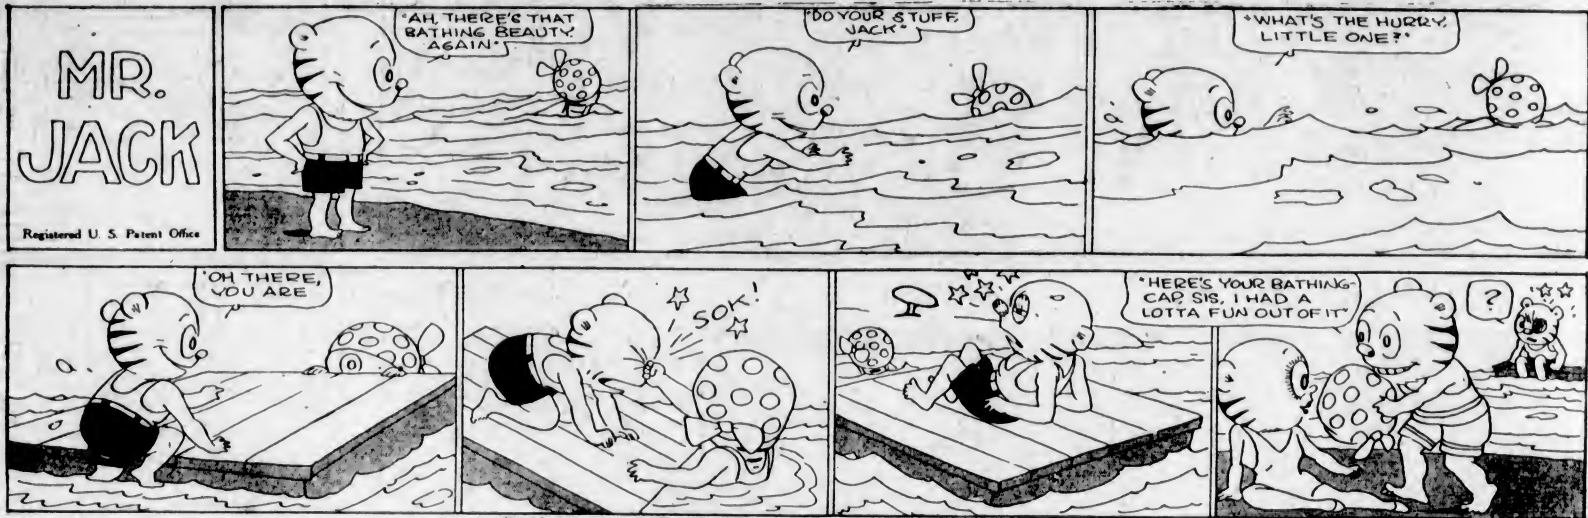

"Er—not quite. You see, I lost that fortune, and I wondered—you don't happen to have another half-crown, do you?"

Sergeant: "You can't go in there; that's the colonel's tent."

Recruit: "Then what hev they got Private over the entrance for?"

Convention Headquarters
For Masonic Grand Lodge
Aboard Ss. Princess Joan

VANCOUVER, June 17.—Ss. Princess Joan, palatial new addition to the Canadian Pacific Railway's British Columbia Coast Steamship Service, will be off her regular run between Vancouver and Victoria for three nights this week, to become a floating hotel and convention headquarters for 425 members of the Grand Lodge of British Columbia, A.P. & A.M., and their wives.

The Masons have chartered the new 5,000-ton ship for their fifty-ninth annual convention at Powell River, and will leave Vancouver at midnight Wednesday for the pulp mill community, where a local committee, headed by John McIntyre and backed by officials of the Powell River company, has prepared plans for elaborate entertainment.

Masons from all parts of British Columbia, from the Alberta boundary to Vancouver Island, together with their wives, are taking part in this largest charter in years. Arriving in Powell River, Thursday morning, the delegates will undertake meetings connected with lodge work, while their ladies are guests of the Powell River company during the morning for a tour of the mills, followed in the afternoon by a garden party at the home of Mr. W. A. McLeod, Powell River company manager, and at a theatre party in the evening.

Friday, with the business of the convention completed, has been declared a free day for golf, fishing, bowling and boating, and in the afternoon for a special cruise around Savary Island, arranged by the Canadian Pacific. The windup event of the two-day session is a grand ball Friday evening, when the hosts will be members of Tribune Lodge of Powell River.

Officers who are members of the party include Mr. R. L. Reid, grand master, Vancouver; Dr. R. Kerr, Duncan, deputy grand master, and the following past grand masters: Messrs. F. J. Burd, W. C. Dimsars, H. H. Watson, Frank S. McKee, William Astley, Rev. Dr. E. D. McLeod, Messrs. A. M. Manson, Vancouver; H. N. Rich, Ladner; John Budd and John Shaw, Nanaimo; R. Baird and Stephen Jones, Victoria; H. B. Morley, Penticton; and Dr. W. Sutherland, Kelowna, and also Dr. DeWolf Smith, New Westminster, grand secretary.

Arrangements for the cruise are in the hands of the transportation committee, headed by Mr. Charles E. Blaney, with Messrs. Frank S. McKee and William Astley working in conjunction with the Powell River local committee. The ship was placed at the disposal of the lodge by Captain C. D. Neroulou, manager of the British Columbia Coast Service.

An M.P. says he is indebted to his old steamship for what he is today. He should be a man and take the blame himself.

CHAPTER XV

Annassa West's first feeling when the man at her side confessed that he was afraid to enter the tunnel in the cellar of the red barn was one of contempt. Her next, that of pity. But in a flash she called the figure he had cut as he bestrode the raging Dracula, and all other impressions were wiped from her mind to make way for complete bewilderment.

"I don't think you know what you're saying," she protested. "After what I've already seen you do, it isn't reasonable."

He eyed her, haggard and ashamed. "You're giving me credit for what I haven't got." In a muffled voice, "It's a coward's an arrangement."

Her reply was calmly assured. "No man could ride my stallion and be a coward. Get that idea out of your head. The shrinking feeling which keeps you from going into that hole must be something besides fear. Let's try to figure out what it is."

"The giant caught his breath." "For twenty-five years I've been trying to figure it out—ever since I was old enough to realize that I was different from the boys I played with."

"Different?" Annassa West's short nose wrinkled interestedly. "How? In what way?"

His answer was prefaced by a groan. "In every way. For example, all the children I knew had fathers and mothers. I was a foundling—left on a doorstep when I was three months old. If I hadn't been for the Christian spirit of the people who ward the doorstep, I would have been sent to an institution."

There was a pause. Then, "I had good friends all right. My foster-parents were elderly, well-to-do people. They had recently lost their only son. Not through death. Some other way. There was disgrace attached to his going, but I never heard what sort I took his place in their hearts. They grew to love me."

Annassa laid her hand on the khaki-colored sleeve and the man's fingers closed convulsively over it. "When I was four years old my colored nurse shut me in a closet as a punishment for running away. I had a convulsion. After that everyone knew there was something wrong with me. A dark place, a walled-in place, drove me out of my mind. And the worst part of it was, the terror of these things grew with my growth. They became an obsession. Doctors examined me. Specialists came from year-by-year. There was nothing to work on. The roots of my fear were in the past, and nobody knew what that past was. The only link which bound me to my real father and mother was a note found in the lining of the cap I had on when I was picked up from the doorstep. The paper on which the note was written had gone to pieces, literally disintegrated with handling, but the information it contained can never be lost because it is written on my brain."

This child comes from the house of Bride's.

He must ask no questions!

Annassa West caught her breath. "Bride's House! Only that to go on. How did you find it?"

The man released his hand and folded his arms across his chest in a gesture of resignation. "It has taken me three years. And in that time I have combed the entire United States. Every dollar my foster-parents left me has been spent. The clothes you see me standing in are the only ones I possess. I'm a pauper."

"Yes—but in the end, how?"

"The newspaper accounts of Claudia Prentice's disappearance gave me my first clue. To work my way back long months."

"And now that you're here," she asked eagerly, "what have you discovered?"

"Nothing," he said, "absolutely nothing." Pointing to the wall beside which they stood, "Unless you count that."

She thought for a moment. At last, "I'm something of an opportunist. I believe in the power of the pen. If we will only hold ourselves in readiness to be served, this tunnel is the last stage of a long journey. At its end lies the answer to your problem."

The man did not laugh at the suggestion. Instead he answered with absolute seriousness. "My dark inheritance was an appropriate place to keep itself—a hole in the ground." Perseusically, "Maybe when I've met it face to face I'll be sorry I didn't let well enough alone."

"It's too late to think of that now. You'd have yourself for ever and ever if you turned back at the eleventh hour." Persuasively, "Come, let's take a look before we go back upstairs. Nothing like grabbing the bull by the horns, you know."

The man shook his head. "My life depended on it I could not go into that black unknown. The fear that the walls were about to cave in on me would drive me mad."

"Unless you explore that tunnel pretty soon," she said, trying to speak lightly, "your dark inheritance will get tired of waiting for you and will come out and gobble you up."

"I cannot help it," he said at last. "I tell you what we'll do," the girl said at last. "We'll think about it. Sometimes thinking about things makes them get easier. Let's put the packing cases and barrels back, just as we found them, and go over to the house. It must be well past lunch time. You could tuck away a bowl of Abby's Scotch broth, couldn't you?"

It took but a moment to restore the cellar to its former air of littered neglect, and they had turned to retrace their steps to the ladder when the sound of voices from the floor above reached Miss West's ears. She prodded her companion in the back.

"Quick, they mustn't see us down here. We don't want anyone to explore that tunnel before we do."

Seth Toby and his men. I didn't realize they'd had time to get back."

Together they mounted swiftly to the harness room, lowered the trap door and were in the barn before the chief of police saw them.

"Oh, Miss West," was his greeting. "I've been looking for you everywhere." And as his eye lighted on the tall stranger, "Who's this?"

Annassa West looked from one man to the other. Her voice, when she answered, was carefully matter-of-fact.

"Dave Smith, my new stable boy. He's come to take Otto's place. I've been showing him around."

The worried look did not leave Toby's face. "Can you vouch for this young man, marm?"

"Absolutely." It was said without the quiver of an eyelash.

The chief of police rubbed the back of his hand against a two days' growth of beard. "Well, I dunno. A mighty despit character escaped from the jail at Ossining two or three months ago. Never caught neither. Descriptions of him gave out at the time over in the stranger's direction. 'Six feet, some inches, blue eyes, black curly hair. Had a mermaid tattooed on his chest. 'Ain't been in the navy, have you?'"

Annassa West knew, without turning around, that at mention of the tattooed mermaid David had put his hand to the collar of the khaki-colored shirt. Seeing her eyes upon him, he lowered it now.

"No," was his answer to the chief's question, "I've never been in the navy, have you?"

"They all walked back to the house together, Seth Toby continuing to pump the big stranger in what he considered a tactful manner. For all the information elicited, he might have saved himself the trouble. David was as wary as a mink.

Not so Annassa. Conscience-manifestation of weakness for which she professed the modern maiden's contempt—had begun its business of smiling. She was increasingly aware of the fact that she had vouched for this man, had made herself responsible for his behavior, to the police. Yet, what did she know about him? Nothing except the story he had told her himself.

That fantastic fear of crushing walls which he had described, for all she knew to the contrary, might be only an ingenious way of expressing a mental bias toward killing. There lay in the back of her mind a vivid picture of this same David, etched in the black and white of moonlight, holding together the collar band of his flannel shirt as he strove to cover a mark of some sort on his chest.

She walked in to the lunch table, leaving David to help himself in the kitchen. By her plate lay a letter. It had come by hand.

"A nice-spoken young fellow in plum-colored livery left it," explained Miss Barth. "About ten minutes after we went out."

"From Mr. Diamond, I suppose," Annassa felt no immediate inclination to find out what the letter contained. Bring on the food, Abby, there's a dear. I'm low."

The able Miss Barth, despite an acute longing to hear what Mr. Diamond wanted of her young mistress, set forth an excellent lunch. While it was being consumed she cast inquiring glances at the troubled forehead under the thatch of red hair.

"What's happened now? Are you sick?"

"No," answered her nursing wearily. "A blue funk, that's all."

Miss Barth knew the temperament with which she had to deal. "If you're taken on another man to worry about, I'm going home. It's bound enough to get ourselves annihilated because of someone who's longed to us, as you might say, but when it comes to a tramp—a great hulking piece of—"

"Abby, please! I'm worried enough as it is. And besides, this bulk, as you call him, is a gentleman. He speaks like one and—"

"Looks like one, I suppose," was the acid rejoinder.

The girl declined to be ruffled. "I'll admit he doesn't look like a Park Avenue dancing man; but he's told me his history and I can't help being interested."

They sat for a moment in silence. Miss Barth stony-faced as a basilisk; the girl idly drumming with her fingers on the table top. Suddenly Annassa rose and with a rush of her most persuasive sweetness flung her arms round the older woman's neck.

"Abby, Abby, stick by me. I'm afraid I've gotten myself in a worse mess than ever."

The strong man on holiday in Somerset rode out on horseback to challenge a farmer whose great strength had gained him a reputation. He entered the farmyard, tied up his horse, and approached the farmer.

"Hey," he said, "I've heard a lot about you, and have come a long way to see which is the better man."

Without answering, the farmer seized the intruder, hurled him bodily into the road, and returned to his work.

When the loser had recovered his breath, the farmer growled, "Have you anything more to say to me?"

"No," was the reply, "but perhaps you'll be good enough to throw me my horse."

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

GIVE YOUR CHILD A HEALTHFUL VACATION

The growing bodies of children are greatly handicapped during the school months when they are compelled to sit at desks and remain inactive during most of the day. At the end of every term children look pallid, irritable, temperamental and obviously played out. The younger children are often seriously overworked. If you wish your child to have the best of health, you should see that it receives a complete change during the Summer months. Some type of physical outdoor activity is most essential. Your children should be allowed to play and enjoy the full glory of the fresh air and out-of-doors. Older children may be given some healthful occupation which does not confine them indoors. Usually, there is plenty of farm work, and boys of high school age, for example, may be sent to help harvest for a few months.

Of course, the vacation should not be spent entirely in work, even though it is healthful work. Every one should have a period of the year where they can forget all troubles, worries, and responsibilities, and simply play and enjoy life. You, no doubt, realize how important this is for yourself, but it is much more so for a child or youth, as it leads to a contented mind as well as a healthful body. It is usually better to get a complete change of scenery. If you are on a farm, take your child for a vacation to the mountains or seashore, or if you are in the city, take your child to see the grandeur and wonders of Nature.

Children usually desire a good many of their studies, but still they are forced to remain in the classroom from six to eight hours, and a pernicious practice is being carried out of having them take home extra work that requires two or three hours to complete. If such over-training is continued for any length of time, it is certain that it will ruin the mind and intelligence of the children, so that they will grow up fit for no practical purposes. It is certainly carrying this cramming too far if you insist on having your child study very much during the Summer time.

You should make special efforts to guard the diet of a child during vacation time. Many people have a tendency to forget all they know about diet when they go on a vacation and sometimes their wrong eating habits injure them more than the good which comes from a change of scenery and environment. During the Summer time, when you can have the children with you at home, be sure to regulate their diet as closely as possible. During the school year the problem of school lunches has to be met, but in vacation time the children can always be at home during the noon hour, and can be fed the proper kind of wholesome food, which is so hard to secure in school cafeterias, and difficult to take in lunch boxes.

During the Summer season teach your child to excel in various kinds of athletic games, checking up on his daily activities at the end of each day. Give him praise, and possibly even prizes every so often, for proficiency in winning physical contests. He will not have time to develop any vicious habits or mannerisms if encouraged in this manner to do the right kind of wholesome exercising.
